ORDER RECESS IN RATE CASE ICC HEARINGS

OPPOSITION WANTS TIME TO PREPARE ARGUMENTS

Washington, July 21. (AP)—The first pause in hearings on the plea of the railroads for increased freight rates came today with an adjournment designed to enable the opposition to prepare its case.

The recess was announced by the interstate commerce commission after attorneys had spent most of the day arguing whether the hearings should continue ininterrupted or be adjourned until August 31 as was the original plan.

Commissioner Meyer, presiding, said he and his colleagues would take under advisement a motion of the roads to resume testimony before that date.

Won't Be Stampeded.

During the day there came from Chairman Brainerd a declaration that the commission would proceed to its decision on the petition for a 15 per cent freight rate increase undisturbed by outside influences.

Writing to Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, the chairman said the commission would not be stampeded into granting the increase but "will continue as it has in the past to render its decisions based upon 'the records as made' undisturbed by all the winds that blow."

The commission today made public another series of studies of railroad values and costs of construction. Ten days ago it issued compilations by its statistical bureau showing the book value of the railroads at the end of 1930 to be $24,078,000,000 and the commission's tentative final value —the rate making value brought up to date—as $21,691,000,000.

Today's series of studies was by the valuation bureau. It fixed costs of complete reconstruction of the roads as of December 31, 1930, at present prices at $27,189,657,479. With depreciation on the properties figured out this cost was placed at $21,581,016,255.

Capper Scores Threat.

The study also carried estimated costs based on average prices of materials and labor for 1929, 1930 and 1931 to date. Under this method complete rebuilding of all the railroads would cost $28,056,475,952. With depreciation figured out, the bureau said, this figure would be $22,269,024,016.

Chairman Brainerd's letter to Senator Capper replied to a telegram prompted by news stories telling of a threat by Representative Beck to urge congressional action if the commission does not act quickly and favorably on the railroads' plea.

The senator said Beck's threat was "even more short-sighted and more inopportune than the application of the railroads for this increase."

The senator called attention to the condition of agriculture and suggested the carriers were trying to put freight rates 69 per cent above the pre-war level while wheat prices are as low as 25 cents a bushel.

U. S. Proposes German Relief Plan

Developments Are Expected at Meet Today

BY FRANK H. KING

London, July 21 (AP)—The seven-power conference faced a delicate situation tonight as the eyes of the participants were turned upon tomorrow's sessions at which developments were expected of the greatest importance in the process of the attempt to save Germany from financial and economic collapse.

The outstanding work of today was a prolonged session of the finance ministers of the various nations who met for several hours, but did not report the result of their deliberations.

The committee of ministers had been given the task of devising a plan for solving Germany's problem. During the evening it was unofficially reported that the financiers had reached a decision, but no confirmation was obtainable. An official communique was issued in which it was said that the results would be communicated to the plenary session of the powers tomorrow.

Stimson Optimistic

Press reports cabled from Washington of new proposals made by President Hoover were eagerly read by delegates of various nations. Both the French and German delegates, said, however, that they had not been officially apprised of the proposals.

In all conference circles it was insisted that a new American plan had not been submitted, but it was assumed that one would be submitted tomorrow.

In the face of disquieting rumors Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson of the United States continued, however, to maintain a quiet optimism tonight.

"The lines of the conference," he said, "are shaping themselves; the problems are being clarified and there is now a better prospect than there was of a successful solution."

Secretary Stimson's opinion was given following the meeting this morning in which he played a leading role.

Reports of new proposals by the American government for solving Germany's immediate crisis by stabilizing the present volume of short term credits, estimated at $1,200,000,000, were cabled extensively to London and were the basis of rising hopes that the conference would be able to announce an early successful conclusion.

Every hour was admitted to be precious in the race against a possible calamity in Germany.

Guards Keep Close Watch at Illinois Prison, Fear Riot

Joliet, Ill., July 21 (AP)—Extra guards and a half hundred highway patrolmen, armed with machine and riot guns, kept watch tonight over the new state penitentiary at Stateville after a plot to bomb the walls in a wholesale delivery attempt had been reported.

All was quiet within the prison. The deadline for the reported bombing, 2 p. m., having passed without noticeable tension on the part of 700 convicts working in the yard and 1,400 others confined to cells. Warden Henry C. Hill said, however, that precautions will not be relaxed for the time being.

Stateville was the scene of violent riots and a ruinous fire during which several convicts were killed last spring. The institution has been relatively quiet since then with the 2,100 inmates assigned to work in rotation, one third at a time and the others kept in their cells.

Port Moresby, Papua, July 21 (AP)—No trace has been found of Captain Leslie Trist and his airplane which was carrying a load of gold from the inland mines to the coast. It is believed that he was forced down in cannibal country.

Six airplanes and five land parties have searched the jungles without finding the slightest trace.

DEATH TAKES G. J. SLINING, OF GLADSTONE

PIONEER RESIDENT PASSES AWAY AT AGE OF 74

George J. Slining, 74, 621 Michigan avenue, pioneer resident of Gladstone, passed away at 6:30 o'clock last evening after an illness of about three months' duration. Death was caused by complications of diseases attendant with old age.

Mr. Slining was born in Chicago on June 17, 1857. He came to Gladstone as manager of the Cleveland Cliffs company furnace at the opening of that industry in Kipling in 1896 and was the manager of the furnace until it was closed in 1921. He retired from active business at the closing of the furnace. Previous to that he was employed by the Cleveland Cliffs company at Marquette.

He was a member of the Gladstone lodge, No. 396, F. and A. M., also a member of the Ahmed Temple, Order of Mystic Shrine, of Marquette. He was a member of the Trinity Episcopal church.

Besides his wife, he is survived by the following children: Byron, of Chicago; Charles, of Gladstone; Mrs. George E. Webb, of Green Bay, and Mrs. Richard Loring, of Duluth.

The body was taken to the Swenson Brothers Funeral Home for burial preparation. No funeral arrangements have been made.

STRIFE WRACKS MINE DISTRICTS

Strike - Harrassed Fields Scenes of Further Disturbances

Pittsburgh, July 21 (AP)—The mining districts of West Virginia, Ohio and Pennsylvania were the scenes of strife today.

At Scranton, in the anthracite area of Pennsylvania, United States Senator James J. Davis was slightly gassed when state policemen and other officers hurled tear gas bombs to break up disorder at the biennial convention of the United Mine Workers of America. The senator was present to make an address.

Miners working in the strike-harrassed bituminous coal fields were ambushed for the second time in two days and one man was wounded seriously during the day.

A fusillade of bullets fell among a group of 50 miners at the McKineyville mine of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia coal company near Wellsburg, W. Va. The men fled for cover but one of them, William Thompson, was shot through the shoulder.

About two score shots were fired from a wooded hillside, officers found no trace of the attackers. Members of the National Miner's Union have picketed the mine.

Boyish Prank Is Blamed for Four Deaths from Gas

Pontiac, Mich., July 21 (AP)—Police of suburban Royal Oak announced today that fingerprints of 12-year-old George Komi had been found on a gas pipe in a kitchen range from which a plug was removed early Sunday morning, asphyxiating the boy, his sister, Dorothy, 10, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Komi.

They said this confirmed their theory that the boy had removed the plug as a prank, perhaps not realizing the consequences.

Coroner G. Dewey Kimball, who has held the theory that an unidentified guest rose during the night, removed the plug and escaped, has called an inquest for Friday afternoon.

BOY, 6, STRUCK BY AUTO, KILLED

Runs Into Path of Car; Another Playing in Street Hurt

Gerald Beauchamp, six-year-old son of Mrs. Eva Beauchamp, 321 Ludington street, was fatally injured last evening, when he ran into the path of a light sedan driven by Eli Ranta, 627 North Sixteenth street, while attempting to cross First avenue south, a block west of the county courthouse. The injured boy was picked up and rushed to the St. Francis hospital where he passed away 25 minutes later without regaining consciousness.

In another accident occurring about 11 o'clock yesterday morning, Peter Hirn, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hirn, 1115 Fifth avenue south, was struck by an auto and severely injured while playing on the pavement near the family home. Mrs. Abe Houle, Jr., 914 Fourteenth street, driver of the auto, stopped and placing him in the auto, took him to the St. Francis hospital where examination disclosed he was suffering from bruises on the head and face, a scalp laceration and shock.

Two Men Killed In Plane Crash

Middletown, Pa., July 21 (AP)—Two Pennsylvania national guardsmen were burned to death when their plane took fire after it struck a tree and crashed to the ground at the edge of the army air depot here today.

The dead:

Lt. Frank A. Johnson, 43, pilot, Philadelphia.

Sgt. Paul W. Dernoeden, 23, Philadelphia, co-pilot and machinist.

Attaches at the air depot said they believed the pilot flew too low in landing.

In the crash part of the landing gear was jammed through the gasoline tank. Before the occupants could get out of their safety belts the ship burst into flames.

The intense heat from the fire kept those who attempted to rescue the men away from the plane.

Gold Finds Its Way to Nations Producing And Selling Products

(Below is the second of three dispatches prepared by Charles D. Watkins, who covers the United States treasury at Washington for the Associated Press, dealing with various aspects of finance involved in the present international negotiations.)

BY CHARLES D. WATKINS

Washington, July 21 (AP)—Like water seeking its own level, gold flows to that country producing and selling the largest amount of commodities.

If the gold of the world was evenly apportioned among the nations such a division would last only until the non-producing nations could spend it with the producers.

Gold has flowed into the United States at the rate of about $417,000,000 in the last year in the month of June the United States gained $156,000,000, of which $90,000,000 was in one week, due chiefly to transfer of gold from Germany.

American interests had loaned huge amounts to German interests on short term credits and when confidence in the German situation was shaken the Americans recalled their loans.

"Ear-Marked" Gold

Such an unprecedented amount of gold could not have been shipped in one month from Germany, and the transfer was made possible because German interests held large amounts of gold in this country which in international financial language was "ear-marked" for the Germans. When the loans were called the Germans turned the gold already here over to Americans to pay the debts.

From May 31 until June 23 the

RELIEF HOPES FOR STRICKEN NATION MOUNT

VOLUME OF CREDITS MUST BE HELD, EXPERTS SAY

BY C. P. WILLIAMSON

Washington, July 21 (AP)—A hopeful attitude that the London conference of ministers would conclude successfully within a few days its work for economic relief to Germany was expressed tonight by a high administration authority.

Acting Secretary Castle of the state department made public today the American proposal to provide financial relief to the Reich. The plan was first talked over with Secretaries Stimson and Mellon by trans-Atlantic telephone last Friday, Mr. Castle said.

The two secretaries spoke to the French and German officials about it Saturday, he said, adding that Mr. Stimson had discussed it in the ministers' meeting early today in London.

American Proposal

The acting secretary said he did not know if the secretary had read to the delegates exactly what was made public by the Washington government but that he had put forward the idea.

In simple language, the American proposal was:

That world bankers should maintain the present volume of $1,200,000,000 in credits to Germany;

That the German government should strictly enforce complete control of foreign exchange to prevent preferential or arbitrary withdrawals;

That a committee selected by the bank for international settlements or another authority consult with bankers for renewal of outstanding credits, inquire into Germany's immediate needs for further credit and plan the conversion of short term credits into long term credits during the next six or eight months.

America's share in the credit volume is $600,000,000. France's share is about $60,000,000.

In an informal explanation Acting Secretary Castle of the state department emphasized the proposals were not in the nature of a moratorium.

Restore Confidence

The acting department head expressed the view that a system of credit cooperation, supplemented by strict measures of the German authorities to stop the drain on Germany from abroad and restore confidence as proposed by America would enable Germany to secure additional credits as she requires them through normal channels.

It would permit the world to return to normal business conduct by assuring the stability in Germany's economic structure, he said, adding this was a necessary step in any plan for the conversion of short term credits into long term loans.

Information reaching the highest administration circles today led to a belief that the world bankers were willing and ready to carry out the terms of the American plan. It was considered to be actually in the process of adoption.

Hudson Is Sued for Breach Of Promise

Los Angeles, July 21 (AP)—G. Edward Hudson, who married Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy recently at Longview, Wash., and became embroiled in several legal tangles, faced another today in a $250,000 breach of promise suit filed against him by Mrs. Ethel Lee Parker Harbert.

The suit charged that in 1929 Hudson promised to marry the Los Angeles woman and induced her to accompany him on a tour of western states but later refused to wed her.

Two More Wardens Have Been Dropped

Lansing, Mich., July 21 (AP)—Two more game wardens have been dropped from the payroll of the conservation department, it was announced today by George Hogarth, director. They are Otto Rohn, of Ann Arbor, and Ross Fowser, of Cadillac. Hogarth said there may be one or two more dismissals. More than thirty conservation officers have been dropped from the payroll since the retrenchment program, made necessary by reduced budgets, was started.

Flaming Gusher Defies Cappers

Having taken a toll of eight lives when it went wild and caught fire, this flaming oil gusher at Mt. Pleasant, Mich., the largest in the history of the state's oil field, roared defiance to workers who sought to cap it and check the blaze. A carelessly dropped cigaret was blamed for the disaster. The fire started shortly after the well "came in" with a flow of 3000 barrels a day. Oil stored nearby added to the stream of blazing liquid.

Milk Producers Urge State Investigation of Prices and Trusts

Lansing, July 21 (AP)—A committee said to represent 15,000 milk producers bore down upon Governor Brucker today with a demand for a state investigation of milk prices and alleged manipulation by milk trusts.

Before the conference was ended a farmer challenged the governor to say what he will do immediately, threatening to go home otherwise and tell other agriculturists the committee was given a "turn away."

Want Impartial Sift

The governor was informed the producers want an impartial investigation by an agency other than the attorney general. It was sugested that a commission be appointed by the governor, that a grand jury probe be instituted or that the federal trade commission be invited to come into the state. The governor took the requests under advisement. He said he will announce his position later.

State Senator Peter B. Lennon, of Genesee county, Representative James McBride, of Shiawassee county, and Representative Richard A. McRae, of Detroit, told the governor the farmers are in dire straits. Senator Lennon declared there is talk of a tax strike because the farmers have no funds. He blamed the huge milk trusts for holding down the return to the farmers. Representative McBride said the milk producers will have to demand a dole this winter

FALL STARTS SERVING TERM

Ex-Cabinet Officer Is Now Convict Number 6991

Sante Fe, N. M., July 21 (AP)—Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, now convict number 6991 in the New Mexico state penitentiary, was reported in good spirits tonight after his first day in prison. He was confined in the penitentiary hospital.

Dr. Eugene W. Fiske, prison physician found physical ailments which has been reported by physicians, who had previously examined Fall. "At present he will be kept in the prison hospital, under observation" said Dr. Fiske. "We will watch in particular for any evidence of decomposition of thte heart or other effects which might result from the 7,000 foot altitude. He will be kept by himself until such time as his habits of a lifetime can be modified."

Dr. Fiske explained that Fall will be gradually adjusted to prison routine, which is quiet in contrast with his habit of late sleeping and reading half the night.

Cannot Change Habits

"We cannot abruptly change his habits and put him in a general ward in his present condition. His case is no exception in the history of the New Mexico prison. He is not the first man who has been received in the prison hospital direct from an ambulance" Dr. Fiske said.

Warden Ed Swope would not say whether Fall had been put through the prison routine of fingerprinting, photographing and

Special Elections Will Be Called to Fill Vincent's Seat

Lansing, July 21 (AP)—Special elections probably will be called this fall to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Congressman Bird J. Vincent, Governor Brucker said today. The primary possibly can be held in September to coincide with local primaries and the election in November, he believed. Congress does not convene until December.

A number of possible candidates for the Republican nomination have been mentioned including State Senator Chester M. Howell, of Saginaw; Coleman C. Vaughn, of St. Johns, and Seth Q. Pulver, of Owosso. Although Ionia is in the district it is understood former Governor Fred W. Green is not interested in the congressional post.

13 ARRESTED FOR VIOLATION OF DRY LAWS

MEN ARE TAKEN TO MARQUETTE FOR ARRAIGNMENT

Striking simultaneously in various parts of the county, an army of dry agents consisting of federal, state, county and city officers, headed by Oscar Rummler, chief of the federal prohibition enforcement agencies of upper peninsula and Deputy U. S. Marshal Paul Nelson yesterday afternoon and last evening raided ten establishments in Escanaba, Gladstone, Garden Bay and surrounding territories. Thirteen men were arrested for prohibition law violations. They were charged with sale, possession and being nuisances.

The men who were taken into custody by the raiding forces are:

Ralph Rasmussen, 1329 Stephenson avenue.

Charles Taylor, 1204 Ludington street.

Ole Olstrom, 331 Stephenson avenue.

O. J. McConnell, White Rock Park, Pine Ridge.

Ed. P. Johnson, 331 Stephenson avenue.

Alex Bruyere, White Rock Park.

Art Durocher, 1709 14th Ave. north.

William Greenwood, 411 Ludington street.

Dighten Tatrow, Garden Bay.

Roland Beeck, Garden Bay.

Tom Trucky, Garden Bay.

Fred Des Jardin, Garden Bay.

Dolph Avotte, 1013 Delta avenue, Gladstone.

The men were taken to Marquette last evening and will be arraigned today by Federal Court Commissioner Button.

Buildings Padlocked

In every place visited by the dry forces, quantities of liquor, beer or wine were found. In some cases both moonshine liquor and beer was found by the raiding agents. The buildings were placed under temporary padlock injunctions.

At establishments where large quantities of beer was found, the officers smashed many cases of the brew, taking only a small quantity for evidence.

Officers made the most sweeping haul at the establishment of William Greenwood, Escanaba, where they found more than a gallon and a half of moonshine liquor and beer. They also confiscated a slot machine in that place.

An unexpected arrest was made at the White Rock Park, Pine Ridge. While federal officers were raiding the establishment and arresting the proprietor, O. J. McConnell, a car driven by Alex Bruyere drove up to the building. Officers found two gallons of liquor in the automobile, believed to have been intended for delivery at the establishment. The liquor was taken as evidence and the driver was arrested.

CAN NOT CUT FORCE—FRANCE

Armaments Reduced to Lowest Possible Point, Says Government

BY ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT

Paris, July 21. (AP)—French armaments have been reduced to the lowest possible point, the government declared in a memorandum on disarmament issued today in answer to the request of the League of Nations council for information preliminary to the 1932 world disarmament conference at Geneva.

In the memorandum, France takes the position that disarmament is a political, rather than a technical question. The country, it said, has reached the low limit in disarming in the present state of Europe and the world and it resists any suggestion that disarmament can be based either on population alone or in relation to the strictly limited armament imposed upon the central powers at the end of the World war.

The declaration was considered here to indicate clearly that France would consider it necessary to make increases in case any action were taken relieving Germany of the limitations imposed by the treaties.

Wants Guarantees.

To assure the security which France continues to insist is the only basis for disarmament, the government considers that it is necessary first to develop a system of mutual guarantees, such as the Rhine guarantees signed in connection with the Locarno pact. It also suggests a second agreement, by which the signatory powers would undertake to use their armed forces against an aggressor, the aggressor to be designated by the League of Nations.

The memorandum adds that France has reduced her forces to the present level only because she obtained the Locarno guarantees.

A large part of the memorandum is given over to explaining—French reductions showing important cuts in land forces since the war.

The increase in naval forces were declared to be commensurate with needs for home and overseas defense and the slight increase in air forces was said to be due to the increased importance of this arm from a military standpoint.

other details of "dressing in" prisoners.

Fall was received at the prison last night to begin a sentence of a year and a day for his conviction of accepting a bribe of $100,000 while secretary of the interior for granting naval oil leases.

Fall's ailments were listed by Dr. Fiske as artero sclerosis myocraditis chronic pleurisy, arrested tuberculosis and arthritis, particularly of the spine.

Air Tour Planes Arrive At Lincoln

Lincoln, Neb., July 21 (AP)—Nineteen airplanes and an autogiro, composing the National Air Tour, rested here tonight while Ray Collins, manager of the flight, was considering the next stopping point. The planes arrived today from Kansas City.

Collins said he learned no definite arrangements had been made at Omaha to accomodate the tour and that unless he received assurances of adequate arrangements the fliers would remain here until Thursday when they will leave for St. Joseph, Mo.

Harry Russell, Dearborn, Mich., leading in points, was the first of the group to reach Lincoln. Jimmy Smart, Pine Bluff, Ark., was second, and Lowell Bayles, Springfield, Mass., was third.

MUST BE TOUGH ON THE NEIGHBORS

By NEA Service

Seattle—Martin Paluta's neighbors must be patient souls—or early risers. As yet no complaints have been made about his roosters.

Martin has 352 roosters—and only five hens. He dotes on roosters, and he has all kinds of the male chickens. Some give their morning cries in bass, some tenor, and some even sing soprano. But all are cheering to Martin's ears. He never eats or sells them. Instead, he keeps adding to his collection until the combined morning chant reaches his neighbors—who, luckily for Martin, live some distance away.

"I like to hear my roosters singing to me when I wake up," he says. They are so wholehearted in their joy at dawn. One crows, then all of them begin. It is a mighty chorus.

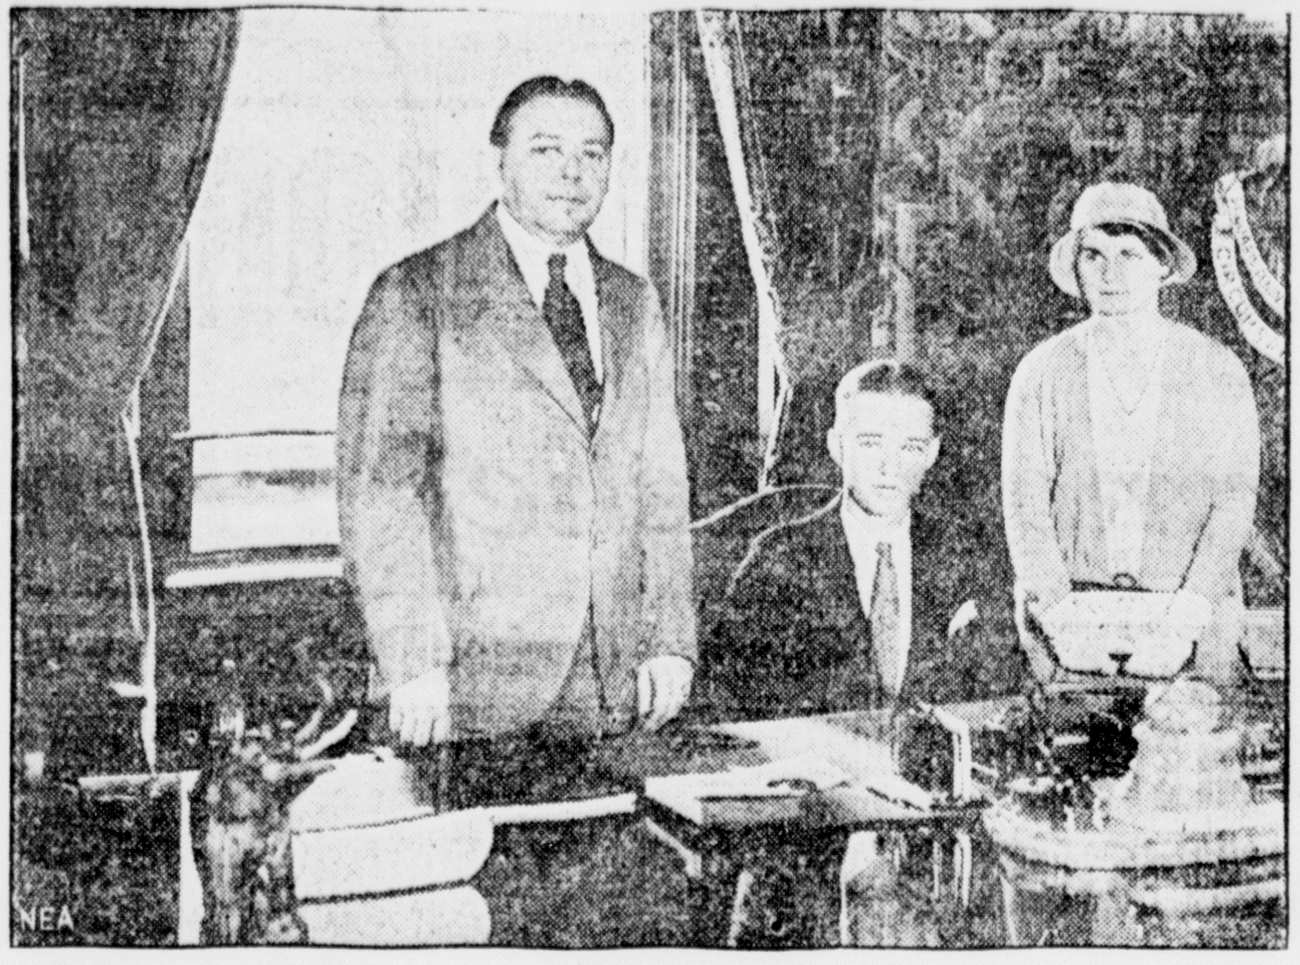
"Some people spend their money for moonshine, but me, I buy roosters."

"Last Post" Nightly at Loos

Every evening during the next 12 months the "Last Post" will be sounded by a british ex-serviceman at the Loos Memorial to the Missing at Loos, France. This is being done at the request of the relatives of one of the missing men. Other relatives have provided for similar arrangements at the Thiepval Memorial to the Missing as soon as its construction is completed. The "Last Post" is also being sounded nightly at Menin Gate.

Measurements taken in the center of Edinburgh, Scotland, show that a daily average of 2.01 degrees of ultra-violet rays was received by the city during the last five months.

'Typical American Boy of Promise' Sits in Michigan Governor's Chair



Guy Barry, 15, of Kalamazoo, Mich., got the thrill of a lifetime when, as he sat in the chair of Governor Wilber M. Brucker, he heard himself described as "Michigan's most typical American boy of promise." And you can bet that Guy's mother, standing by his chair, was mighty proud, too. He was awarded a $6000 scholarship carrying three years at Culver Military Academy, Culver, Ind., and was chosen in a state-wide competition among high school students.

PRODUCERS ASK STATE INQUIRY OF MILK PRICES

unless prices go up. Representative McRae asserted the farmers are getting about two cents a quart for milk while the consumer in Detroit pays 10. He said the spread represents dividends on watered stock, exorbitant salaries and unjust earnings of trusts.

Ed Goble, Mio farmer, broke into the discussion when Gov. Brucker said he was in sympathy with the needs of the producers, but would consider the situation further before announcing what the state will do.

"I am not a politician," Goble said, "Neither are three-fourths of the farmers in my community whom I know feel the same as I do. When we started for Lansing we were told we couldn't get anywhere. I feel the governor should tell us what he is going to do and not give us turn-away answers. They said the state can not afford an investigation. There is money for everything else but when the farmers want something there isn't any. I want to go home and tell my people what the state is going to do. If the governor won't give us an answer I'll tell them the meeting turned out just as they said it would."

The governor said he would not be stampeded by talk that political influences were at work against the farmers, nor by radical or pink assertions by those who for political reasons really would like to see the situation grow worse. He promised to give the matter thorough study. Frank Sawyer, of Grand Blanc, who has been a candidate for many offices on the Democratic ticket, rushed to the governor's defense and censured Goble for demanding an immediate answer.

Assails Farm Board

"I wouldn't think much of a governor who gave a snap answer without thinking the things over," Sawyer said.

During the discussion, Senator Lennon assailed the federal farm relief act and the federal farm board. He said the only accomplishments of the farm board have been to lose millions gambling in the grain market and promote intoxicating wines for the benefit of California.

"If they can't give us something better than that, they'd better repeal the law," Lennon said. "Agriculture has sunk to the lowest ebb in history under this farcial farm relief system."

Spokesmen promised to raise the money for an investigation if the state can not afford to finance one. A resolution adopted by the house of representatives during the legislative session advocated a milk price investigation and suggested an appropriation of $30,000. The governor said this amount "staggered him."

"DO ANYTHING" CLUB

London—Honorable Mountjoy Fane and Saunders Davies have organized a club whose slogan is "Do Anything." For a cash consideration members of the club will go to South Africa and obtain a boa-constrictor, a zebra, or a lion cub for anyone wanting such animals. They guarantee to bring gold nuggets from the Yukon, a rare orchid from the tropics or the bones of a mummy from an Egypian tomb. Crime is barred, however.

"Talking Beacon" Not Heard

When it was announced recently that a "talking beacon" had been installed in Cumbrae lighthouse in Scotland, many people, under the impression that it sent a great voice booming out the name of the lighthouse and its position, listened patiently for it to talk. Complaint that no word was heard brought an official announcement that the "voice" was a wireless wave discernible only to a receiving set.

CREWS SUBDUE OIL WELL FIRE

Blaze Near Mt. Pleasant Extinguished After 60-Hour Battle

Mt. Pleasant, Mich., July 21 (AP)—The fire out and the spurting of oil and gas from a defiant gusher reduced to a mere trickle, principle danger was believed past tonight in the first major disastor in the history of Michigan oil operations.

The 60-hour battle against the flaming "Struble No. 1," greatest well a Michigan oil field has yet produced, ended about 10 a. m. when jets of steam and streams of water extinguished the fire. White-hot girders which once made up the derrick had been dragged away and there was nothing to re-ignite the gases and oil.

For 5 hours more, gas and oil continued to pour from the control head, rendered ineffective by burning of a gasket, and the area was flooded with combustible gases which needed only a spark to set it afire again.

Saturated With Oil

At 3 p. m., a crew of men succeeded in caping the well with a new and larger control head and the danger was believed ended. But an hour later, a gasket in the master gate gave way and another geyser of oil and gas arose, spraying across the nearby highway. Hasty repairs were made and tonight there was only a trickle of oil.

Ground near the well is saturated with oil, however, and a haze of gas blanketed the area. Everything in the vicinity was kept saturated with water to minimize the fire hazard.

The trouble late today was attributed to the great pressure from within the well. Storage tanks were being moved out of the danger zone and when the flow can be turned into them, oil men expect the leakage to be eliminated.

Only five victims of Saturday's blast remained in the hospital tonight and the death list stood unchanged at eight.

Of the patients, Thomas Lamb, oil driller, of Mt. Pleasant, is considered most seriously injured. He is not expected to live. His wife was among the early victims. Walter L. McClanahan, the "hard luck" operator whose first paying well lured eight persons to their death, is given an even chance for recovery while the conditions of E. J. Guy and his son, Robert C. Guy, still are serious, although they are expected to recover.

Cap Leaking Gusher

It may have been all in the day's work for the oil field work men, but it was a tense moment for spectators as the crew of 20 men capped the leaking gusher.

Stripped to the waist and carrying the giant control head on timbers, they invaded the gas-flooded well area, from which there would have been slight chance for escape had another fire broken out. With giant wrenches, they removed the defective cap. A fountain of oil spouted high into the air, drenching the men and all else around the well.

Then they placed the new valve, screwed it into place and closed the gate, closing the flow.

DOUBLIN HOSPITALS BENEFIT

That as a result of the money they received from the sweepstakes, the hospitals of Dublin, Ireland, would be able to provide themselves with up-to-date equipment, and so the city would have the best and most efficient hospitals in the world, was the declaration made by the Lord Mayor at a meeting of friends and supporters of the Coombe Hospital, Dublin, recently.

The value of motor vehicle products purchased per year is $3,717,000,000, it is shown by the 1929 manufacturers' census.

BOY, 6, STRUCK BY AUTO, KILLED

street and First avenue, when the lad left the south curbing about 100 feet east of the intersection and running backwards went directly in front of the oncoming car. According to eyewitnesses Ranta swerved in an attempt to avoid the accident but the car struck the boy, hurling him to the pavement. Ranta drove to the corner, turned around and returned to where the stricken child was lying.

The boy was placed in the auto and rushed to the hospital, but died a short time after arrival there. Death was due to a compound fracture of the skull and acute shock.

The accident was investigated by the local police department and Ranta was released after questioning by the authorities. It was stated last night that an inquest into the accident would probably be held.

The death is the second of violent nature to occur in the family within a year, a brother, Gene, having been drowned last summer when he fell into the water while playing on a scow near the Reiss coal dock.

Mother Had Premonition

The mother, heart-broken over her tragic loss, sobbingly related that throughout the day she had had a premonition that something terrible was to happen, and that when an older brother requested Gerald to go to a nearby home and get one of his chums to come over and play, she told the older boy to go himself. Gerald, however, went in search of his brother's playmate, and it was while returning from this mission that he met his death.

Gerald is survived by his mother, Mrs. Eva Beauchamp, four brothers and two sisters, William 13, Claire 12, Violet 11, Robert 8, Francis 3, and Roy, one and one-half years of age.

The body was removed to the Allo Funeral Home to be prepared for burial. No funeral arrangements have been made.

Shaw Arrives at Moscow to Study Russian Movement

Moscow, July 21 (AP)—George Bernard Shaw, one of the world's foremost exponents of socialism, arrived here today to survey a non-capitalistic country for the first time and remarked dryly:

"After all, I was a communist before Lenin was born."

The Irish author and critic set out less than half an hour after reaching his hotel on a sightseeing tour which took him to Lenin's tomb and Kremlin, where he was photographed perched atop a czarist cannonball.

Later he went to the Park of Rest and Culture, a recreation center for workers on the Moscow river, and tonight he attended a special performance of the "Beggar's Opera" given in his honor.

Just as indefatigable as the noted satirist, was Lady Astor, who with her husband and one of her sons was among the six making up Shaw's party.

WON—YET LOST

New York—Max Pincus isn't going to buy any more lottery tickets for a long time. He recently held a winning ticket in a horse derby and was entitled to $80,000. He went to a certain address to collect, only to find out at the address that no one knew anything about the lottery. Pincus hired a lawyer to get the money for him, but the lawyer couldn't find anybody to sue.

PAY FOR "FREE" GAME

Fort Worth, Tex.—Two members of the knot-hole gang were watching a baseball game free through holes in the park fence. Not content with their vision, they cut a huge hole in the fence just as Sergt. C. T. Stamps and Pattrolman R. S. Hicks came along. Both long-distance fans were arrested and fined $10. They could have had seats in the bleachers for fifty cents.

HIGHWAY JOBS ARE AWARDED

Escanaba Contractor Is Given Large Job by Highway Board

Lansing, July 21. (AP)—Contracts for more than 20 miles of trunk line paving were awarded today by the highway committee of the state administrative board. Construction of one mile of 40 foot pavement to close a gap on US-31 south of Muskegon was approved. The work will be done this year if the right of way can be secured. The stretch is from the county line north.

A contract was awarded for 40-foot concrete approaches to the Grand Haven bridge on US-31 to H. A. Hozie, of St. Joseph at $22,615.

Other projects awarded were:

6.1 miles of 30-foot pavement on US-112, Telegraph road west to Inkster and Nowlin road west to Telegraph, to Wayne county road commission; 10.1 miles 20-foot concrete on US-23, AuGres north to county line, Arenac county to C. STRIFE WRACKS MINE DISTRICTS strikes began more than two months ago, occurred yesterday in southern West Virginia where two men were killed by bullets fired similarly from ambush. Five men are under arrest in connection with the shooting.

Ohio authorities were guarding a suspect held in the killing of a youthful picket near Martins ferry last night. The youth was shot when pickets and working miners who declined to oin the strikers clashed.

The Pennsylvania coal miners were quiet, violence having subsided since a fight between followers of the National Miners Union and the United Mine Workers of America at Canonsburg Sunday.

None of the strikes seemed near settlement. The United Mine Workers have obtained wage agreements and recognition with some operators, negotiating as individuals, but none of the operators has shown any disposition to deal with the N. M. U. which demands recognition of its union in addition to a higher wage scale.

Mail Pilot Killed During Bad Storm

Centralia, Ill., July 21 (AP)—Air Mail Pilot F. Edward Hamann, 27, flying on the St. Louis-Evansville, Ind., route, fell to his death early today on a farm near Hoffman, nine miles west of here, during a blinding rain storm. His body was crushed.

An inquest revealed the pilot came to his death attempting to land in the darkness evidently in an effort to escape the storm. His plane crashed into a tree stump and turned over at 2:19 a. m.

GREAT-GRANDFATHER MARRIES

Eighty-three-year-old William Taylor, great-grandfather of several children, was married recently to Miss Nellie Buckingham, aged 48, at East Chertsey, England. Within recent years Taylor has been thrown out of a pony cart, sustaining back injuries, fallen from a tree, suffering fractured ribs, and had a severe case of pneumonia, but says he is as spry as ever.

NEW METAL FILM REPORTED

N. Louis Lumiere, the noted French scientist, is reported to have invented a metal film which is said to be more durable and resistant than ordinary celluloid film. The metal used is the result of an entirely new process, which is being kept zealously secret. Lumiere has been in virtual retirement for many years, and has been working quietly in his laboratory.

Baby motor-tractors are to replace the 9,000 van horses of an English railway. Each tractor is expected to do the work of two horses and at greater speed. Several hundred of the robot equines have just been ordered. Each machine is driven by a seven-horsepower engine, and has a wheel in front and two in the rear. It will be attached to a van by a pneumatic "harness."

GOLD REACHES NATION SELLING MOST PRODUCTS

German Reichbank lost $230,000,000 in gold and $20,000,000 in foreign exchange, bringing its ratio of reserves to total note and deposit liabilities to 40.4 per cent in face of the legal requirement that the minimum be 40 per cent.

It was in this period that President Hoover proposed a year's postponement on all payments on intergovernment debts. Such action would enable Germany to postpone for one year reparations payments totaling approximately $400,000,000. It would allow debtor nations to hold up for one year payments to the United States totaling about $245,000,000.

The latter amount represented the payments due for the twelve months on the $11,000,000,000 loaned to America's allies during and just after the World war. The allied nations were granted a long period of years in which to make repayment. The moratorium offered by President Hoover was about the same as a banker telling a merchant that it would waive payments due on his note if he did not seek to collect a long overdue grocery bill from a citizen whose financial failure would injure the entire community.

World Bank Helps

While the allied nations were discussing President Hoover's proposal the situation became so critical in Germany that the Bank for International Settlements at Basel, Switzerland, was called upon for aid and arranged a loan of $100,000,000 to Germany. The money was raised by the Bank of England, Bank of France, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and other European nations. The New York Federal Reserve Bank participated to the extent of $25,000,000.

In arranging the loan the Bank for International Settlements fulfilled one of the phases of its operations for which it was organized under the Young plan for reparations payments.

DANCE OF ELECTRONS

Washington—Someone will now please compose a symphony entitled "The Dance of the Electrons" since Dr. Jesse W. W. du Mond, of the California Institute of Technology, has found that electrons in metals actually dance. He has found, in photographs, that tiny free electrons travel around between atoms at a speed of 1862 miles a second, while the bound electrons bounce around in a more orderly race at 92,000 miles a second.

YACHT DORADE CROSSES SEA

Sails Into Plymouth at 6:14 P. M. After 17 Days on Ocean

Plymouth, Eng., July 21 (AP)—Looking as spick and span as the day she left Newport, R. I., the American yacht, Dorade, sailed into Plymouth harbor at 6:14 p. m. today, the first of ten yachts to complete the 3,000 mile journey across the north Atlantic. With a time allowance of 46 hours, 28 minutes and 44 seconds, Skipper Roderick Stephens of Scarsdale, N. Y., expressed surprise that the Dorade was the first to arrive.

Not only was the Dorade the first boat to reach Plymouth but it also probably will be declared the winner on corrected time. It received time allowances from seven of the ten boats in the race and gave away time only to the British cutter Maintenes II and the schooner Amberjack II of Marblehead, Mass. The Dorade gave the Maintenes II a little less than 6 hours and the Amberjack II a little more than 30 hours. Neither of these rivals, however, appeared to have any chance of beating out the Dorade on corrected time.

As the result of the handicap, the result will not be known for at least thirty hours, the margin the Dorade gave to Amberjack. The latter boat was far out in the Atlantic last night, however, and needed nothing short of a gale to blow it to victory.

Although experts estimated it would take at least three weeks for the fastest of the little boats to span the Atlantic, Dorade was anchored 17 days and 14 minutes after she left Newport. She made the entire trip under full mainsail, averaging 198 miles a day for the last eight days. Once in the English channel, however, her good luck deserted her and for several hours this morning she was almost becalmed.

As Skipper Stephens sailed the trim little craft to her moorings, she passed within 100 yards of the king's yacht, Britannia, which has been racing in the Plymouth regatta. The British sailors lined up on deck and gave the American crew three rousing cheers.

The Dorade carried as a crew Stephen's two sons, Roderick, Jr., and Olin, Hartwell Moore, Owen P. Merrill and Edward S. Koster.

YES HE WOULD.

"What would happen if this elevator should drop to the bottom?" asked the nervous passenger as they passed the eleventh floor.

"Gosh!" exclaimed the elevator operator. "I'd lose my job."—Tit-Bits.

Beauty of Sable Dunes Described by Reporter

BY MARJORIE MORRILL

"To the sound of flutes and singing,
To the sound of drums and voices
Rose the handsome Pau-Puk-Keewis
And began his mystic dances. . . .
....
Till the wind became a whirl wind,
Till the sand was blown and sifted
Like great snowdrifts o'er the landscape,
Heaping all the shores with Sand Dunes,
Sand Hills of the Nagow Wudjoo!"
—Longfellow.

By the waters of Pauwating, by the Bay of Taquamenaw, danced Pau-Puk-Keewis for the wedding celebration of Hiawatha and Minnihawha. Westward danced he along the shores where the sands had been laid down by some ancient ice-sheet and rolled up by ages of water action. Frenzied and joyful he leaped westward until, where a beautiful lake cuddled close to the greater Big-Sea-Water, he raced and pirouetted until the sands were whipped up into heaps and whorls, remaining in that state of arrested action until this day.

There is no shore in all of Michigan more varied than the wave-beaten line from Whitefish Bay to Munising. Low hills and high hills, sand hills in some places, old glacial gravel in others, long reaches of golden sands with marsh or woods behind. The streams move toward the east, sometimes only short distances from the shore. This is the case with the Big Two Hearted River which for ten or twelve miles is never more than a mile from Superior. With the Sucker River the stream is in some places only a few rods from the big lake.

At the village of Grand Marais long spits of sand reach out into the green-blue of the deep waters. The shores are higher along the village park. Then the dunes start, running for about seven miles. Then comes mixed sand, gravel, rock out-croppings to where the Beaver Lake basin cuts into the shore line which soon takes on a rose tint as the iron of Pictured Rocks grows deeper and the banks rise to the pinnacles of Miner's Castle.

But it is of the dune land that we speak today.

The deep gold of their lifted masses shines brightly above the wall of green forest as we approach. There is a sort of quaint, old-world look even about the houses, many of which are ancient as time is counted in this near-pioneer day. Here were farms started when the village of Grand Marais was a thriving lumbering town with six or seven saw mills and long docks where all during the summer months the lumber barges loaded for their down-lake trips.

The fields are rolling and walled toward the west by the tall forest trees. The dunes look as though they might some day become tired of their confinement between walls of trees and moats of water and will step over and spread out on the meadows.

Sable Lake is deep blue. A road runs on along its northern edge to where the writer, Mary Dickenson Donahey, and the artist, William Donahey, live in two pickle barrels. We had to mention this. These people come from their Chicago home for a summer rest but the unusual qualities of both the persons and the domicile are so attractive that crowds visit them annually. On Sunday they must retire to the dunes or to the home of friends in town if they would have a little quiet and rest. This must be pretty much of a hardship for two such friendly people. But no little girl or small boy in all of this Upper Peninsula should miss seeing the "pickle house." It helps them retain their belief in fairies which will be taken from them all too soon by this work-a-day world.

Pretty stern stuff are these dunes. This is no place for puny people and piffling thinking. It takes grit to reach the top and more grit to cross the two miles of desert-like mountains and valleys to the great lake beyond. Down in the deep cuts trees are growing, some having reached about middle life, as trees go. Here is grass, also, a sharp, tough growth whose points write eternally some odd language of their own. That is, each blade has its own queer script although they must tell about the same sort of narrative.

We think each hill as we climb it must be the highest; we puff to the top to look up at higher hills. Sometimes the valleys are filled with shadows, sometimes a long feather of light moves slowly across them. The hills are wind-carved; some with castle battlements and a tower or two. Here is a handsome flight of steps leading to some place for meditation close to the sky. Here is a sharp pointed hill, grassed heavily and dark green on the north, cut into a hollow curve on the south, with a great fringe of grass roots waving along the cut-out edge.

Here is a deer trail leading through the valley of shadows down to the green oasis at the bottom. The men folks would like a rock to shy down and see if the animal is hidden there; no rocks or stones in all this waste of sand.

A wonder is found on the Superior shore. A few years ago we saw it when it was only a wet spot on the side of a sand slope. Now here are two springs, seeping out of the golden sand and running off in beautiful fan-like decorations to join and tumble in a little singing water-fall down over the shore-bank, now suddenly rocky and graveled. Good water We bend to drink from the lip of the falls.

One day these dead stubs, fringed from sand-scourings and from the whips of the north winds, were tall and beautiful trees. Their roots must be buried many feet down. In the sand is the circle of what was once a beech. It is like tissue paper to the touch and a stick can be pushed deep down where the solid wood once filled the tube of bark. Some sort of wild, grain-like grass is growing on a tall knob from which we can get a long view up the lake.

On Point Au Sable stands the lighthouse. It was this light that was tended for many years by a brave woman. She had a sick husband who was the keeper. She had a family of children. In the early spring with snow deep on the dunes and the wind sweeping in from the lake, she would place on her back such necessities as potatoes, bacon, sugar, matches, and snowshoe sixteen miles to start the light. More than once she had to cut the ice-bound door with a hatchet before she could fine shelter and rest. That woman has a son living in Newberry. His name is Charles B. Beaulieu.

Perhaps it is this journey-end at the dune springs that will be longest remembered of this trip, for a bit of magic was granted the travelers. A deer, maybe the one whose trail led into the oasis, had come here to drink only a very short time before. The print of the sharp hoofs was fresh in the wet sand. And he had turned well-digger and had cut two deep depressions a foot or more across, and waited for the water to clear in it for his drink.

Perhaps we will remember the feel of the water of Sable River as we waded it to regain the road, and the plush-like sensation of the river sand. Perhaps it will be the good food consumed in such quantities on the bank of the stream and the smell of the wood smoke, or the quaint pleasure of fishing for doodle-bugs in the little round holes of these interesting spiders, that will stay with us. Lupine and yarrow were blossoming and the shrubs were silver and green and a remnant of a sand storm swept down over a hill. We shall remember. . . . We shall remember. . . . Here the ghost of Pau-Puk-Keewis dances, dances in the valleys, down among the golden yarrow and the lupine nodding brightly, on the dunes of Big-Sea-Water, Sand Hills of the Nagow Wudjoo!

THE FARMERS' PICNIC

ALL good fellows will get together again at the fifth annual Delta County Farmers' Picnic, which will be held at Pioneer Trail Park on Thursday, July 30.

The picnic has grown to be a well-established institution in this county. It is eagerly awaited each summer by both the farmers and business men for it offers a wonderful opportunity to get acquainted, discuss their mutual problems and indulge in a big day of athletic events and other pastimes.

If the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce should ever decide to dispense with this annual event, we venture to say there would be an "awful holler" raised. There is no intention of ever doing this, however, for when more than seven thousand folks will swarm out to a picnic like they did last year the permanency of the institution is pretty well assured.

Plan now to attend the picnic. Bring a lunch basket. Don't bother about coffee, sugar, cream, pop and ice cream, however, for these items will be furnished gratis on the grounds. And there will be free corncob pipes and tobacco too.

GANGDOM COMES NORTH

GANGLAND crimes in Chicago and other large cities have occurred so frequently in recent years that newspaper readers have come to look upon them with an "Oh, Hum" attitude.

Despite what has been said of the far-reaching evils of large-scale bootlegging, racketeering and other organized criminal activities as typified by Caponeism in Chicago, we up here in Escanaba and the rest of the north country have felt that we are too far removed from the scene to be affected. But that there is cause for some concern is shown by the daring bank holdup at Green Bay on Monday by a band of robbers, armed with machine guns in true Chicago gangster style.

The use of machine guns in committing robberies is somewhat of an innovation in this part of the country, and indicates that the bandits may have come north from Chicago. Whether they were from Chicago or not, the effect of Caponeism is evident in the adoption of gangland's methods. Thus it is seen that crime, uncontrolled in a large city, is reaching out Octopus-like to the smaller surrounding communities, offering a real menace to their security.

When one beer baron kills another in Chicago, most folks just dismiss the subject with the comment that "it saves the police the trouble." But this lawlessness offers a serious problem, one not only affecting Chicago but the rest of the nation, for such anti-social ideas can spread beyond the confines where they are germinated.

WANT A MORATORIUM

WHEAT farmers in the southwest are appealing to implement dealers, bankers and others to whom they are indebted for a limited moratorium on their debts. Their requests are not excessive. All they ask is that they be permitted to hold their wheat in the hope that within a few months they will be able to sell it at prices somewhat better than those that now prevail. In many parts of Kansas they are getting for it at this time but 25 and 27 cents. This is for less than the cost of producing it. They are not so sanguine as to expect to be able to sell at even a nominal profit. They only hope that they will be able to get a few cents more a bushel than they can get now, so that when they sell they will be able to make a somewhat larger hole in their indebtedness.

Their requests are not going unhonored. The manufacturers of agricultural implements and their agents are disposed to be as lenient as possible. The former are already carrying an unprecedented amount of farmers' paper. The bankers and other creditors want to be as helpful as they can be. This desire to be helpful arises in part from sincere sympathy with the wheat farmers' plight and in part from the consideration that if they are crowded too hard at this juncture in their affairs they will be smashed, and with their smash will go all chance of payments of the debts they owe.

But whatever temporary remission of payments is granted the farmers of the southwest it is beyond question that most of their current crop will be sold at a loss. Dispossession will not go very far, as it would be a step of doubtful wisdom for creditors to force. The farmers will be permitted to try again. If there is within a few months material improvement in the price of wheat they will benefit greatly, for the withheld wheat will amount to a large volume.

The thing that is feared, and with excellent reason, is that the price will not be materially improved. Stocks, to say nothing of the over 200,000,000 bushels the farm board is carrying, are large, and depression tends to diminish foreign demand and even domestic consumption.

Every fact bearing on the situation goes to suggest that the price of wheat will not be materially better until considerably less wheat is grown.—Iron Mountain News.

THE VALUE OF A SKILLED WORKER

FAR from replacing the trained mechanic, the mechanization of industry has made him more valuable than ever. So says a prominent mill executive, quoted in the current issue of the Wall Street Journal.

This man's mill is running close to capacity—and, due to the depression, is losing $2000 a day. The executive, pointing out that the loss would be even greater if production were curtailed or stopped entirely, added that wage reductions would only make matters worse, saying:

"It takes a rare man with much experience to direct one of these tremendously costly machines. Not only must we keep him in a good mood, but if we were to shut down for a few weeks we would never see him again."

It may be that the ultimate salvation of the worker will come, not through a return to old-time handicraft conditions, but through a complete extension of the mechanization process.

RUSSIA'S NEW POWER

On July 22, 1917, the Joint Congress of Workmen's and Soldiers' Councils and of the All-Russia Council of Peasant Delegates conferred supreme and unrestricted power on the new Russian government. They passed the following resolution after an all night session:

"Recignizing that the country is menaced by a military debacle on the front and by anarchy at home, it is resolved:

First—that the country and the revolution are endangered:

Second—That the Provisional Government is proclaimed the Government of National Safety:

Third—That unlimited powers are accorded the Government for re-establishing the organization and discipline of the army for a fight to the finish against the enemies of the public order and for the realization of the whole program embodied in the Governmental program just announced."

HEART of LIANE

(By NEA Service) By MABEL McELLIOTT

CHAPTER XXIV

THE big man announced, "Young lady to see you, Lieutenant."

At the scarred desk sat Shane McDermid, staring as though he'd seen a vision.

The girl advancing was enveloped in a smoke-colored coat fitting her snugly at the waist like a Cossack's uniform. Little smoke-colored turban from the close frame of which bronze curls escaped. Small, exquisitely fitting shoes. There was a subtle scent in the big, grim office with the unwashed windows. Shane stared, and small wonder that he did. He got to his feet stumblingly.

"Miss Barrett?"

"Yes." The vision smiled.

"You're all grown up," he said marvelling. "You were a little girl last summer."

"And you've been made a lieutenant. I'm almost afraid of you now."

He laughed, but was pleased and flattered, too. "Not a bit of it. Well, well! Is there something I can be doing for you?"

She told him. Between breaths he made deep sounds of anger.

"The dir-rty—" He caught himself in time. "You'll have to excuse me. "The rats—! Tell me what the feller looks like," he commanded.

Liane ruffled her forehead in an effort to recall the least clue. "He's dark like a Spaniard—or Mexican," she said haltingly. "He has a tiny mustache. He is beautifully manicured."

"No rings? Jewelry?"

"No, I don't think so. Oh, he had a little gold watch charm. I remember he kept playing with it. Shaped like a tiny lion."

"Um." Shane McDermid pondered. "Tuesday, you say?"

"That was what he said. Yes."

"The Alexis Club. That's a new place, now. Johnny Barbados. I know Johnny. He's a Greek. Not a bad one, either. Now, look. Don't you worry your head about this. I've got something on Johnny. He won't want me to get down on him. Just you stop worrying. I'll see to it, yes. It looks mighty funny to me." Shane McDermid pondered. "They know about old Cleespaugh's will and that's not generally known, you say. And they're aware you've no money. It looks as if you're to be scared out. Well, leave it to me."

"You think it's all right, then?"

"I'm tellin' you not to worry, an' I mean it. Johnny Barbados. Well!"

Shane saw her to the door. He said, "Call me up tomorrow. Maybe I'll have good news for you."

"I can't thank you," Liane managed to say. She was fumbling for a handkerchief.

"Well, there. You're a good girl and I like to help good girls. Don't see one any too often." He laughed awkwardly.

SHE went out into the street feeling rather dazed. Half an hour ago she had been quite sick with fear, with foreboding. Now the cloud seemed, momentarily at least, to have lifted.

What a good fellow Shane McDermid was. Her heart warmed to him. She wished she might tell Clive all about him. But she daren't—at least, not yet.

Liane felt, she thought, an enormous affection for Shane McDermid. It was nothing like the feeling she had for Clive. No, that was fondness, comradeship. She loved to be with Clive. They laughed at the same jokes. He made life seem casual and amusing.

Nor was it like the white-hot emotion that smote her when Van Robard appeared on the scene. Van's presence could make her palms cold and her face feverish. When he appeared she said artificial things, acted a part. She wondered why her emotions couldn't be steadier. She hated herself, feeling light and frivolous and unstable.

"I'm the wrong sort of girl," she thought wildly. "I'm fond of three or four men, can't stick to one."

She went blindly out of the big station, out into the street. The first snow of the winter was falling. In her smartly cut coat with its lining of fur she was guarded from the storm. She looked with sympathy at the girls who passed wearing thin shoes, their sleazy cloaks held gallantly about them to protect them from the wind.

"I'm so lucky" she thought. "There but for the grace of God go I."

She longed to help the poor. She dropped a dollar into the cup of a legless man. Now that the load on her heart was lifted, she felt unaccountably happy.

"I must try to love everyone" she decided, like a child who has escaped punishment and, grateful, holds out her arms to all the world. "Even—even Tressa."

"Well, that would take a bit of doing. Tressa had been unfriendly to her from the start.

"Perhaps it has been my fault," Liane thought. "Perhaps I've been nasty when I might have been nice."

She took a taxi from the station. The grate in the big hallway had a crackling fire in it. Clive looked up from his book.

"Well, we were just about to send out a searching party." He stood up, touched her almost awkwardly.

She drew away. Her laugh sounded brittle, strange. "I must hurry if I am to change. Trousseau shopping."

He nodded. Shopping was an endless, mysterious pursuit and he did not pretend to understand it.

"You looked pale this morning but now you've a grand color," he said appreciatively.

"I feel worlds better," Liane said. She stretched out her arms.

"Careful! You mustn't do that!" His tone was almost a growl. Suddenly, without warning, he had swooped upon her, kissed her full on the mouth.

"Sorry to interrupt such a charming tableau."

They both looked up. Tressa stood a few steps above them. Her eyes blazed with hate.

THE woman with the black veil threw her cigaret into the wastebasket. The man growled, "You'll set this place on fire yet."

She said fiercely, "Don't bother me. So they muffed the whole business!"

"She has friends at court, I tell you. Came down on Johnny like a brick. He's lucky the place wasn't shut up. He's yellow, I tell you, and is scared foolish his dump'll get a bad name."

"That is to laugh," the woman said cynically. "Bad name for Johnny's place. It never had anything else." She paced up and down.

"Well, can't you do something?" she snapped. "You have before. Write her a note, have her come in and throw a good, hard scare into her. She knows what 'The Tattletale' is, anyhow.

The man threw out his hands.

"I wouldn't touch her if she's got McDermid in her train," he said explosively. "This business's tricky enough but you can't expect me to put my neck into a noose. That bird's dynamite. He'd as soon frame me as eat. And he could, too."

"Oh, you make me sick, all of you!" the woman cried. "Afraid of your shadow."

"You talk big, I notice," the man said. "But you keep your skirts clear. What a howl you put up when it looked as if there was going to be a leak on the Miley case. You didn't want it known that you were one of my tipsters."

"I have to live among them," the woman said sullenly. "It's my bread and butter."

"Well, you'd better lay off this girl, I'm telling you," the man observed. "I wouldn't touch the story with a pole."

"Maybe the tabloids will then," sneered the woman. She stood up to go. Without ceremony the door opened and a big young man shambled in. Even in his dark, plain suit he had the tell-tale marks of a policeman.

"Ferson?"

The man at the desk, nervously shuffling proofs, said yes, he was Ferson.

"I'm McDermid, from Headquarters. You seen Barbados?"

"I've seen him."

"Well, then, you know that I know about this tie-up. I just wanted to drop you the news, for fear Johnny hadn't made it plain enough, to lay off."

He fixed a gimlet eye on the woman.

"I've seen you at the opera," he said suddenly, snapping his fingers. "I know you, ma'am, and that's a fact. Don't be springin' anything on any friend of mine or I'll be obliged to see that your connection with this filthy rag" (his arm swept the offices of "The Tattletale) "gets about."

The woman shrugged.

"Well, that wouldn't do you any good. No. Better do what I tell you." McDermid rumbled out of the door.

The man threw out his hands expressively.

"There, you see?"

* * *

THE extension telephone in the upstairs hall rang sharply. Liane went to answer it. Nora on the downstairs wire said, "It's for you, miss."

"Hello. This is McDermid. You're not to worry. It's all fixed, as I told you."

"Oh, thank you. A million million—"

"It's nothing. You're entirely welcome."

There was a faint buzzing on the wire. Then Shane's voice came through quite clearly, "Look out though. You've an enemy."

Liane clicked frantically but the connection was cut off.

Mrs. Amberton called to her from her sitting room as the girl passed down the hall.

"Come in and talk to me."

Liane obeyed with alacrity. She liked this slow-voiced, amiable woman.

"Tressa's been in town all day. Isn't it a fiendish one? I hate rain."

"It was snow yesterday. Too early for that but better than this drizzle," Liane agreed. She saw herself again going tremblingly down the dirty side street to the police-station. It seemed years ago instead of hours. Her heart was lighter now.

"Are you all ready for the wedding?" Mrs. Amberton asked lazily.

"Almost." Liane sat, lacing her fingers in and out.

"You're wearing a veil and everything?"

"Oh, yes, but it's to be very quiet. No maids. Just mother to give me away."

There was a little flurry on the stairs as the talk halted lamely. They could hear Nora saying, "You're wet through, miss."

"My dear!" Fanny cried as Tressa pushed past. "Where have you been?"

"I've had the most frightful day," Tressa said, ignoring Liane. "Let me have a tub and rest before you start asking questions."

WAITING

No, we're not buying much,
A case or so,
It surely beats the Dutch,
Our business, though.
I don't remember such
A year, I know.

Our advertising, too,
We've cut that down
Until these times are through
A man's a clown
To try a thing to do
To sell this town.

No, we're just sititng still
In our old grove
Till people loosen, till
They make a move.
If someone only will,
Things may improve.

Greek Kills Himself.

Menominee—Disillusioned over his love affair with Myrtle Schainstine and out on bail pending his preliminary hearing next Saturday on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm while armed with a dangerous weapon, John Axiotis, a Greek, 38, proprietor of the Marinette shoe shining parlor on Main st., Marinette, took his own life Sunday afternoon.

Though Axiotis killed himself about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the body was not discovered until 8 o'clock last night stretched across the bed, a .32 automatic pistol tightly clutched in one hand, and a note saying, "I am going to Weapon," lying on the table.

The note was believed to have meant that Axiotis feared that he was "going to Waupun," the penitentiary, for his attempted shooting of Miss Schainstine last Friday afternoon.

Store Manager Shot.

Sault Ste. Marie—Shot in the back with a .32 calibre revolver in the hands of a gunman, Harry Roe, Atlantic and Pacific store manager, today was in the War Memorial hospital in a critical condition. Two hours after the daring robbery of the store and the brutal shooting of Roe, Archie Ylonen, 26, of Raco, formerly of Detroit, was arrested two miles west of Dafter by Deputy Sheriff Willard Welsh and Police Officer Ephriam Sawyers.

Machinery of the courts here was immediately set in motion after Ylonen's capture. He appeared before Judge Ray Gillespie in justice court shortly after noon, waived examination and was held without bond for trial on a robbery armed charge in Judge Herbert W. Runnels' circuit court this afternoon.

A conviction or plea of guilty would make it possible for Judge Runnels to sentence Ylonen to life in prison.

Saved from Drowning.

Sault Ste. Marie — Clarence Baker, 346 Spruce street west, U. S. Customs inspector, had a narrow escape from drowning Sunday afternoon about 3:30 at the Brimley State Park.

Quick work by John Kelly, and Charles Earl, employes of the St. Marys Falls Canal saved Baker. The two men saw a commotion near the diving raft and when they reached there Joe Turley, Sault, who had attempted to rescue Baker was being pulled under.

Kelly and Earl pulled both men out and took Baker to shore where they worked over him for an hour and a half.

Bandits Rob Merchant.

Crystal Falls—Two unmasked bandits held up Peter Warshawsky, 55, at his store on Superior avenue at about 9:45 o'clock Saturday night, and escaped with approximately $150, most of which was in checks, after they bound the proprietor.

Sheriff Waite and a posse searched the highways shortly after the robbery and until an early hour yesterday, but no trace of the bandits was found. The search was continued last night.

Two young men, between 25 and 30 years of age, entered the store as Warshawsky prepared to close for the night. One asked for a pair of shoes. Warshawsky waited on him and then the second said he wanted a pair similar to the shoes his companion selected.

Bacco Buys Building.

Iron Mountain—Medio J. Bacco, head of the Bacco Construction company, today confirmed the purchase of the plant building at one time used by the Northern Woven Lath company and located near Moon Lake, north of the city. The structure was owned by Felix Valenti and Henry Suino, North side merchants.

The Northern Woven Lath company was organized with local capital about 10 years ago. It constructed the plant for the manufacture of a woven lath, which, however, proved unsuccessful. The plant was operated for a short time and then closed down.

Fights to Keep Buried Gold

"Possession is nine points of the law," argues Alex H. Booth, above, upon whose property in the Buffalo, Ill., business section was found $6000 in buried gold. Heirs to the estate of a wealthy physician who once lived on the land plan a suit to acquire the treasure and, also, officials have dug up an old statute which states that such money must be turned into the county treasury.

Miss Alice Reau is chairman, assisted by Miss Alice Kvam and Mrs. Caroline Nystrom.

The program of amusement consists of foot races, various stunts and contests, horseshoe pitching and a baseball game between the "Fats" and the "Leans."

AERONAUTICAL SCHOOL

The institute will specialize in research work pertaining to the development of lighter-than-air craft.

Organization of Women Workers Gains Strength

Geneva (AP)—Agitation for the organization and regulation of women workers is gaining strength, and some successes, throughout the world, according to reports received in official quarters at Geneva.

The French Federation of Women's Trade Unions is urging the eight-hour day for all occupations for women and is advocating part-time work for wives and mothers.

The Italian government has decreed that marriage may not constitute a reason for cancellation of women's employment contracts and that married workers must receive preference over unmarried ones.

The German factory inspection service reports marked favorable results from the legislation relating to the employment of women before and after childbirth.

In Russia special attention is being paid to the vocational training of women workers, of whom at present about 55 per cent are said to be skilled workers.

An All-India Women's conference held recently at Lahore advocated the employment of women doctors in factories where there are a considerable number of women and asked for the passage of a maternity benefits act for the whole of India.

Mrs. Aley Back From Isabellas' National Meeting

Mrs. A. F. Aley, regent of Trinity Circle, No. 362, Daughters of Isabella, returned Tuesday morning from Boston where she attended the biennial national convention of the Daughters of Isabella, held from July 15 to 18.

F. Villemure, the former Miss Mary Buchanan, of this city, of Iron Mountain; Mrs. Myrtle Bessele, of Calumet; and Mrs. Genevieve Weber, of Hancock.

The convention sessions were unusually splendid and entertainment features particularly enjoyable, Mrs. Aley said, not only during the stay in Boston, but on the way east and on the return trip to Michigan.

Enroute to Boston, the delegates were entertained by Isabellas of Washington, D. C., the program there including a visit to the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, at which the Isabellas have one altar of beautiful mosaic work; a visit to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, with ceremonies during which Mrs. Boyd, national regent, placed a wreath on the tomb; a visit to the Franciscan monastery, with its reproduction of catacombs of Rome, and a luncheon at the Mayflower hotel.

At the convention business meetings, plans for programs to be carried out by various Circles during the year, were discussed. Plans for the erection in Washington of a statue of Isabella of Castile, as a companion piece to the statue of Columbus, were also considered.

Entertainment

In Boston, delegates were taken by Mayor Curley for a boat ride about Boston harbor and were his guests at a luncheon on the roof garden of the Westminster hotel. Sight-seeing trips included a trip about the Statue of Liberty, visits to the New York and Boston Ghettos, a visit to Harvard University, and to Longfellow's home in Cambridge; to Paul Revere's home, and a stay in New York where they were guests at the Hotel New Yorker. The return trip was made by boat from Buffalo to Detroit, with a stop at Niagara Falls.

"Lost Tribe" Found In Remote Sahara By U. S. Explorer

Los Angeles, July 20 (AP)—Discovery of a "lost tribe" living in underground villages in the remote interior of the southern Sahara Desert was announced here by Dr. Arthur Torrance, Los Angeles physician, author and explorer.

Dr. Torrance, who returned recently from an expedition through central and northern Africa, said he first located the habitat of the "lost tribe" in 1923 but was unable to penetrate to the native center because of hostile desert nomads. Definite evidence was claimed this year.

He said the nomads are self appointed guardians of the 10,000 natives and have repulsed all efforts of white men to learn the secrets of the underground village dwellers. A few natives have escaped the nomads, however, Dr. Torrance said.

"They are of the negroid type," the explorer said, "but are more Aryan than anything yet discovered in the search for the cradle of earliest human life. They must be descandants of those primitive people who wandered into Europe and spread into the Himalayas."

What they eat, what they wear, how they live, how they are governed, excepting the nomads iron hand, must, he said, remain a secret until explorers overcome the hostility of desert tribes by kindness, medical care and education.

FLAGS ARE NOW AVAILABLE HERE

Escanaba Postoffice Has Stock for Funerals of Veterans

Under the World War veterans' act, as amended last year, flags for draping the casket of war veterans may be obtained directly from Postmaster George G. Geniesse at Escanaba, on application filed in the prescribed manner. Three such flags are kept on hand at all times at Escanaba, and the stock is replenished from the office of the director of the veterans' bureau at Washington as soon as one or more are used. The local postmaster announced yesterday that he had received the allotment of flags for Delta county, and that they were now available. The act governing the issuing of these flags says:

> "Where a veteran of any war, including those women who served as army nurses under contracts between April 21, 1898, and February 2, 1901, who was not dishonorably discharged, dies after discharge or resignation from the service, the director shall furnish a flag to drape the casket of such veteran and afterwards to be given to his next of kin regardless of the cause of death of such veterans."

It is further provided that the regulation burial flags (5 feet by 9½ feet) may be secured upon application at the county seat postoffice. The stock kept at the Escanaba postoffice is available for all residents of Delta county. Application should be made by the next of kin of the deceased veteran, the person responsible for burial services, representative of the American Legion or any other ex-service or welfare organization having charge of the burial, or other person having knowledge of the facts and acting in the interest of the deceased or his family.

The postmaster will supply the form required for the flag application. The person requesting the flag will be required to submit the original discharge certificate of the deceased veteran or to submit other documentary evidence or information which will assist the official receiving the application in determining the veteran's eligibility to a flag.

Previously flags supplied for veterans' funerals in Delta county were purchased and reimbursement secured on application to the veterans' bureau. The present arrangement simplifies the procedure, and gives assurance of promptness in securing the regulation flag, which becomes the property of the family or next of kin of the deceased veteran after his burial.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT

The newest Nancy Carroll-Frederick March romantic drama, "The Night Angel," is featured at the Delft Theatre today, Thursday and Friday.

"The Night Angel" is an original story written and directed by Edmund Goulding, the young genius who wrote and directed "The Trespasser" and "The Devil's Holiday."

Miss Carroll, in the title role of the production, is seen as the daughter of an impoverished and disgraced countess who owns and operates a notorious night club in Prague, gay capital of modern Bohemia.

March is the public prosecutor, a brilliant legal mind, who brings about the arrest and incarceration of the countess only to arouse the hatred of the tempestuous Nancy.

When a brutal employe of the cabaret concocts a fiendish plot against March, Nancy's feelings toward the handsome young man change to love—and the ensuing events lead the audience through a series of exciting and heart-tingling scenes in which action and thrilling suspense are ever present.

The ending is a happy one.

While playing with other children in a field, the four-year-old son of Edward Phillips of Ballymartin, Ireland, was wounded in the eye by a rusted scythe blade, and the injury proved fatal.

Railroad Engineer Wants Name Cleared

Crystal Falls—Memories of the North Western railroad train wreck near Penola almost 21 years ago were to have been revived today by Patrick Tolan, 62, locomotive engineer who was blamed for the accident, in which William Russell of Escanaba, engineer on the other train, was killed.

Tolan said that he planned to take the matter up with Judge F. A. Bell of the circuit court in an effort to get a hearing of some nature to clear his name. The county, state and federal departments, in addition to the trainmen's brotherhood, have declined to give him an opportunity to show that he was not at fault, Tolan stated.

The veteran engineer, gray and thin, has appeared before the board of supervisors on two occasions, asking that a coroner's verdict which blamed him for the head-on collision be wiped off the record. He said that the verdict, in reality, placed a charge of manslaughter against him, and he wants to be relieved of "that constant thought of being a murderer."

Verdict Ancient History

Several months ago Leigh C. Caswell, prosecuting attorney, told the supervisors that the county could not consider Tolan's case. The verdict, he said, is now ancient history. Tolan was present and was told that if he thought a manslaughter charge had been placed against him it had been discharged a long time ago.

Tolan said Saturday that he wants to be vindicated, and will attempt to get a court hearing.

The late James Davidson, of Crystal Falls, was county coroner at the time of the wreck. At the inquest, according to the records, it was said that Tolan disregarded train orders. The veteran engineer denies this and places the blame for the wreck on the train dispatcher at Escanaba.

Was Injured

Since the accident Tolan has discovered that he received a spinal injury which is now bothering him, and he attributes it to the jump from the cab when he saw the other locomotive approaching at full speed. Russell was killed in the collision. The two firemen jumped and escaped injury.

Shortly after the wreck Tolan was discharged by railroad officials. In addition to the hearing in which he seeks, Tolan also wants to be reinstated as an engineer.

Tolan said that he will so far as to approach congress to clear himself. He has already made a trip to Washington and several to Lansing. There is no record of the verdict in Iron county, but Tolan said it is on file in Lansing.

Fort Worth—It was feared for a time that the 96th District Court would be delayed for some time due to Judge Hal Lattimore being called for jury duty. The judge accepted the call, saying: "I expect other citizens to lay aside their duties to serve on the jury, so I'll do the same."

CENTRALS WIN EASY CONTEST

Jack Williams Invincible As Fords Lose, 9-3; In 2nd Place

What dopesters predicted to be a hard fought battle was turned into a route Monday evening when the Central Markets took undisputed possession of second place in the Manistique diamond ball association race by putting the skids to the Creighton Fords to the tune of 9 to 3.

Jumping out in the first inning with a brace of four runs, the Centrals held the Fords completely at bay by a comfortable margin throughout the fray. Shaky support on the part of the Fords innerworks coupled with a cluster of opportune hits, put the Centrals off on the right foot.

The Fords could only glean six hits off of the superb hurling of Jack Williams who was invincible in all but the second, fourth, and seventh innings, when the losers counted lone tallies. Walt Drevdahl was slightly off color, allowing his opponents 16 hits.

Brilliant Fielding

Brilliant fielding plays featured the game, LaFrenier making a circus catch in right center field, leaping high in the air while running at top speed to pull down a powerful drive with one hand off the bat of Bill Cook. Jesse Archey was robbed of what seemed a sure triple when Alec Creighton made a spectacular one handed stab of a vicious liner.

Batteries were Jack Williams and R. G. Henschell for the winners and Walt Drevdahl and Bill Cook for the Fords. By reason of their victory over the Fords, the Centrals will have an opportunity to climb into a tie for first place Thursday evening when they meet the Norton Specials on the eastside grounds.

On the Westside the Putnam Rexalls turned the tables on the Independents, collecting five runs in the fourth inning to take the game, 11-6. Loose play on the part of the Indees accounted for several of the Rexalls scores. The score was tied at three all in the third.

Marks and Ekdahl worked for the winners while Milo Jones and Joe Brunet formed the battery for the losers.

Local Man Struck by Lightning Bolt

William Marin, of this city, had a narrow escape from death Sunday afternoon during the severe electrical storm when he was struck by a bolt of lightning on the Chesborough grounds, rendering him unconscious for more than an hour. With the exception of suffering from shock his condition is reported as being favorable.

Mr. Marin with a party of relatives and friends were spending the day at Chesborough's. When the storm came up they took refuge in a pop stand. A short time later, Mr. Marin and Donald Wilcox went to the rear of the stand to make a purchase when a bolt of lightning darted in, striking Mr. Marin who was standing on a carpeted piece of tin. The fact that he was wearing rubber soled shoes probably saved his life.

Artificial respiration was administered the stricken man for more than an hour before he regained consciousness and a physician was called. Mr. Marin was placed on a cot in the stand where he remained Sunday evening and all day Monday. His present condition is very satisfactory and it is believed that he will suffer no ill effects.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Hall returned Sunday evening from a ten day motor trip. They visited at the former's home at Lake City, Mich., and also with friends and relatives in Detroit.

COOKS

Cooks, July 21 (Special)—Blueberries are rather slow in entering the local depot. The main crop is not yet ripe, prices are poor and the number of pickers is so large as to exclude any possibility of good returns from any one individual.

Olaf Nordrum, representing Booth fisheries of Chicago is making Cooks his headquarters while calling on fishermen at Fairport, Garden and Manistique.

WIVES TAKE NOTICE— HUSBANDS REJOICE

By NEA Service

London—Husbands here are suggesting three cheers for Dr. Josiah Oldfield. The good doctor has just come out with some advice to women which should aid suffering husbands quite a bit.

"Nagging wives," he says, "put their husbands in an early grave. The wife who nags shortens her husband's life a little every time her tongue gets out of control. The wife has at the same time taken the first step toward becoming ugly and old.

"When the mind is at peace," he explains, "the body is strengthened by food or rest; but nagging produces a frame of mind in both husband and wife which leads to physical deterioration."

FARMER MARKET TO OPEN SAT'Y

City Club Lends Cooperation in Sale of Garden Truck

The farmer's market, conducted annually under the sponsorship of the Gladstone City Club, will open for the summer season on Saturday morning, and farmers of the surrounding vicinity are again being invited to come to Gladstone and dispose of their produce each week-end.

Invitational letters are being sent out today to all farmers to come to Gladstone to dispose of their vegetables, produce, creamery products, poultry and any other commodities which they may have. The full cooperation of the club in aiding them in the sale of their goods is promised in the letter.

The market will be located in the same place as last year, on North Eighth street, just off Delta avenue, and the rules and regulations will be the same as in the past. Spaces are marked off and numbered and there is room to accommodate between 25 and 30 farmers. Preference in spaces will be allotted according to time upon which the farmers put in their appearances on the opening day. A board erected at the market upon which market prices for goods is posted. It is hoped that a full representation of farmers will be in attendance on the opening day.

The market has proven very successful in past years and those in charge are bending every effort to make it again successful and popular. Members of the committee in charge are Victor Johnson, chairman, Helmer J. Skogquist and Herman Windahl.

Roumans	320 050 x—	10	8	3

Skellenger and Williamson; Ducheney and Swan.

DON'T WALK FLOOR— LET BABY CRY

By NEA Service

Berlin—Rejoice all you fond fathers who must wake with the first outburst of baby's yells and walk the floor with the child until the early hours of morning. Don't do it. Unless a child is very ill, those cries are nothing more than the "expression of a vivid individuality, or giving vent to an artistic urge," according to Dr. Flusser, eminent German child specialist.

"Crying is an infant's only possible means of expression, and giving vent to his frequently overbubbling temperament is his natural method of making his individuality known to his family," Dr. Flusser says.

"When something is wrong with baby he has his own method of telling the world with a jerky spasmodic cry, tinged with hysteria or fright. But a good, healthy youngster's cry is a boon to his emotions and does him good."

Bert Henne, Who, Will Teach Here, Majors In Latin

Latin may look like just a lot of work to some folk, but Bertam (Bert) Henne, Marquette, who has contracted to teach French, Latin and English in the Gladstone high school next year, chose to major in that subject when he enrolled at Northern State Teachers college in the winter term of 1928 to get his bachelor of arts degree. Henne will receive his degree in August. He minored in English and history.

Mr. Henne was graduated from the St. Francis seminary high school in Milwaukee, and for a year went to school at Nazareth Hall, St. Paul, Minn. Since his enrollment he has attended all of the summer terms at Northern.

Besides doing scholastic work of a high grade, he has found time to participate in many extra-curricular activities and for the past year has acted in capacity of editor of the College News.

He is a member of the Haynes Debating society and participated in inter-collegiate debates in 1929 and 1931. During his senior year he was vice-president of the organization.

He belonged to L'Alliance Francaise, appeared in several dramatic skits given by the club, and not only served as its president during the past year, but was chairman of the committee on arrangements for a successful social evening which the organization sponsored. He has a liking and talent for dramatics and played a leading role in the sophomore play, "The Queen's Husband." He also had an important role in the senior class day program at the commencement in June.

He was a speaker at both the Men's Union banquet and the annual Phi Epsilon dinner and served as vice-president of the latter organization during his senior year.

He likes reading, especially poetry and finds recreation in tennis, swimming and other outdoor sports.

Cost Estimate On Dakota Sewer Job Is Being Prepared

Cost estimate on the proposed West Dakota sewer construction, to be laid from Fourteenth to Sixteenth streets are now being prepared by City Manager F. R. Buechner. Plans, profiles, specifications and blue prints have already been completed and it is probably that procedure on the improvement project will be started at the next meeting of the commission, Monday evening.

The improvement was petitioned for several months ago at which time 73 per cent of the property owners affected favored construction.

Seven hundred and forty feet of 10 inch vitrified pipe will be used in construction and two manholes will be incorporated. The average cut over the entire two blocks will be 8.8 feet. The sewer will be laid with a four-tenths per cent grade in the first block and five-tenths per cent in the second, plenty to insure a velocity which will be self-cleansing.

All lateral sewers will be laid during construction, in keeping with a recently adopted policy.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, July 21. (AP)—The stock market felt its way cautiously today, and with a little help from bullish professionals advanced moderately along all major fronts.

Volume expanded to 1,134,430 shares compared with yesterday's five-year low record. Rails came to the rescue in the afternoon when prices had begun to sag from an earlier rise of 1 to 3 points and although final quotations were generally under the top there was an average advance of about a point and a half.

President Hoover's proposal that international bankers maintain present credits to Germany and that the republic continue to exercise close control over foreign exchanges was favorably received in banking quarters here which noted particularly that no further financial assistance to the Reich was mentioned.

The stock market continued to follow U. S. Steel, whose directors meet next week for dividend action. There is difference of opinion as to whether the present rate will be maintained, some pointing to the large call on surplus which the regular payment would entail and questioning whether the directors would be willing to make that demand even as a gesture of confidence. The shares today made an extreme gain of 2 points, closing 1½ higher.

G. E. Pays Dividend.

National Biscuit indicated that it had discounted smaller second quarter earnings by rising 2 points. General Electric's 37 cents a share for the second three months against 38 cents in the first period this year offered further evidence that business in April, May and June was not completely disheartening.

Bethlehem Steel, American Can, Case, Corn Products, Youngstown Sheet, American & &Foreign Power, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific closed 1 to 2 higher. Atchison and Rock Island rallied 4. Net advances in the oils were fractional, but the group was active, particularly Sinclair and Standard of New York. Motors were firm.

Small southwest receipts, bullish Canadian weather and a better export demand sent wehat up ½ to 1 5-8 net. Corn's gain were nominal. Net losses in cotton ranged from $1.20 to $1.45 a bale.

Foreign exchange rates moved irregularly. Sterling rallied, then declined and finally closed unchanged at $4.85 for cables. The French franc was a trifle heavy, but the mark held nominally at 23½ cents.

CHICAGO PRICES

CHICAGO LARD.

Chicago, July 21.—Cash lard 7.77.

CHICAGO BUTTER.

Chicago, July 21.—Butter prices declined ½ cent on top scores today under pressure of liberal offerings and an indifferent demand.

Fresh: 93 score 24½ to 25; 92, 24; 91, 23¾; 90, 23; 89, 22½; 88, 21½; 87, 20¼.

Centralized carlots: 90 score 24½; 89, 23¼; 88, 32½.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, July 21.—Plans approved by President Hoover whereby American banks would maintain credits in Germany, provided other countries' banks did likewise, helped to lift grain prices today. A substantial falling-off in receipts of domestic winter wheat, together with adverse reports of the spring crop in Canada and North Dakota, were also bullish factors. Curtailing of the movement of United States winter wheat was ascribed largely to a widespread holding tendency by farmers in the southwest because of low prices.

Wheat closed unsettled 3-8 to 1 5-8 cents hgher, corn ¼ to ½ advanced, oats 1-8 to ¼ up, and provisions varying from 32 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

North American wheat export business lacked volume, except 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat taken yesterday for shipment overseas. Corn and oats followed wheat.

Provisions were responsive to downturns of hog values.

New York, July 21. (AP)—Bonds made irregular progress in a more active market today. Foreign issues were prominent, with the trend mixed, while domestic rails, especially some of the secondary obligations, improved. Sales totaled $7,362,000, par value.

Although German 7s and 5½s sold higher, much of the extreme advance was lost. Numerous loans of German states and municipalities, together with many of the industrials and utilities, turned heavy. Latin Americans were mixed.

Advances in the American rails covered a wide list.

The more favorable aspects of the petroleum situation was reflected in increased turnovers in oil bonds, mostly at higher prices. Otherwise the industrials were about steady.

Utility mortgages and debentures were firm and dull. United States governments held steady in a sluggish market.

Farmers Finding New Methods Of "Selling" Wheat

Kansas City, July (AP)—Not all of the bumper wheat crop of the southwest will reach market through the regular channels.

With wheat down as low as 25 cents a bushel, farmers are finding numerous means of consumption heretofore unknown.

In the Texas Panhandle, theatres are admitting farmers and their families for a specified amount of wheat; dentists exchange dental work for it; mills accept it in exchange for flour, and almost every newspaper in the section is paying above market price for the wheat for subscriptions.

So far, however, grocers, clothing merchants, machinery dealers and others who do any considerable amount of business with farmers have not adopted the plan, but at least two dealers exchange automobiles with wheat accepted at 50 cents a bushel.

Many farmers are feeding their wheat to poultry, dairy cows and hogs.

Outlying districts of the north plains have annonced that some farmers will burn wheat for fuel this winter, rather than haul in coal.

NATIONAL AIR TOUR IN SOUTH THIS YEAR

By NEA Service

Detroit — The National Air Tour of 1931 will follow a route of about 6425 miles through the South and Southwest, officials have announced. Heretofore, the trip for the Edsel B. Ford trophy has been conducted in the north.

The route will take in the following cities, starting at Detroit: Buffalo and Binghamton, N. Y.; Bradford, Pa.; Columbus, O.; Evansville, Ind.; Memphis, Tenn.; Birmingham and Montgomery, Ala.; New Orleans and Shreveport, La.; and Houston, Corpus Christie and Brownsville, Tex.

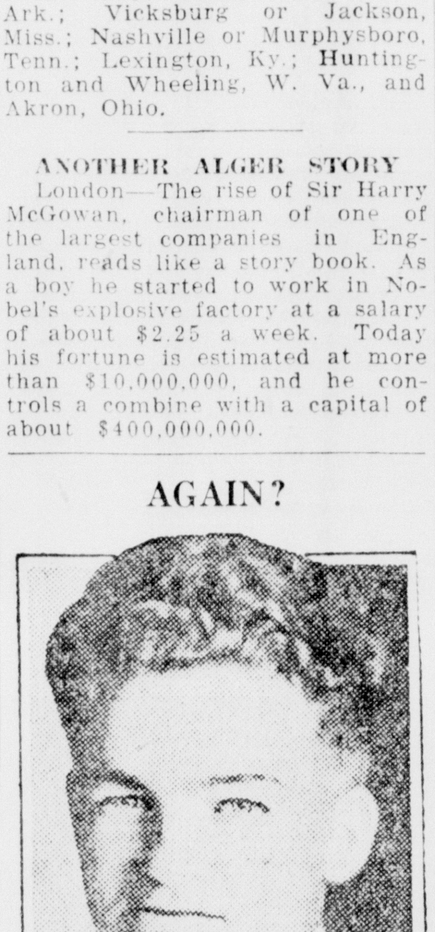
At Brownsville the tour will enter Mexico, taking in Tampico, Mexico City, Leon, Agua Caiente, Zacatecas and Torreon, re-entering the United States at Eagle Pass, N. M.

Here the tour will turn back to Detroit again, passing through Austin and Wichita Falls, Tex.; Ponca City, Okla.; Little Rock, Ark.; Vicksburg or Jackson, Miss.; Nashville or Murphysboro, Tenn.; Lexington, Ky.; Huntington and Wheeling, W. Va., and Akron, Ohio.

ANOTHER ALGER STORY

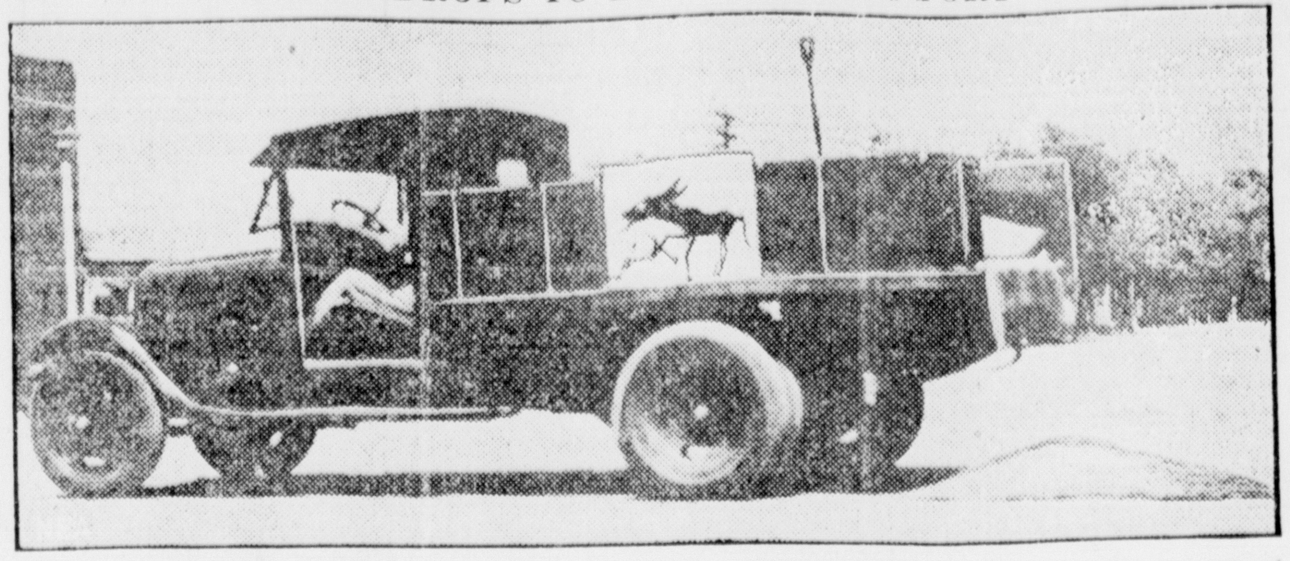
London—The rise of Sir Harry McGowan, chairman of one of the largest companies in England, reads like a story book. As a boy he started to work in Nobel's explosive factory at a salary of about $2.25 a week. Today his fortune is estimated at more than $10,000,000, and he controls a combine with a capital of about $400,000,000.

AGAIN?



Harry Russell, shown here, won the Ford Air Tour last year when he covered 5000 miles and 27 cities with more points to his credit than any other competing pilot. Now, in another tri-motored Ford transport plane, he seems well on his way to win this year's tour. Latest reports show him well up among the leaders.

KANSAS FARMERS DUMP WHEAT ON STREETS AS PRICE DROPS TO LOWEST IN HISTORY



Faced with financial disaster as they pour the greatest flood of golden grain in history on an already glutted market that sees wheat prices the lowest since Kansas became a state, Kansas farmers are taking their predicament with irony. Here you see Forest Kennett of Bucklin, Kan., dumping a wheat-laden truck in the street, rather than sell his crop at 27 cents a bushel. The mule painted on his truck bears the caption "Kansas Wheat Farmer" and on the other side a sign reads "Farm Board."

Traffic Holding Up.

St. Ignace — Tourist traffic across the Straits of Mackinac appears to be holding up well this year, despite the depression in business, the state highway department's summary of its ferry operations for the season up to July 1 showing a slump of only 1,200 cars under the 1930 record for the same period.

Receipts to July 1 fell off $1,053 from last year's mark and the number of passengers carried was 2,150 less. The traffic in April and May was heavier this year than it was last year for the same months, the gain in receipts for that period being about $3,000, but in June this year the receipts took a slump which more than offset the gain to June 1. June receipts this year were $35,000, compared to $39,000 for June, 1930.

Narrow Escape.

Negaunee—Marjorie Howe, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Howe, 312 Clark street, had a miraculous escape from serious injury and perhaps death Friday evening at 8 o'clock when she fell from a rocky cliff on Teal Lake bluff near Teal Lake avenue.

The little girl, in company with Gloria Gribble, of Crystal Falls, Stella Olson and Marjorie Gustafson, all about the same age, had been at the high school playgrounds when they decided to climb the steep side of the bluff.

The other girls had practically finished the climb of about 60 feet when Marjorie missed her footing when about half way up and fell.

JUST 22 YEARS LATE

London—Tom Winshull, of Birmingham, received a letter signed "Lilly." It explained that the sender was sorry she had refused his proposal and that if he renewed it, she would accept. Tom didn't know any girl named "Lilly," so he looked at the postmark. The letter had been mailed in 1909 and was intended for his father of the same name who had died several years before. Lilly, who had never married, was also dead.

Grasshopper Plague Troubling Farmers

Washington, July (AP)—One of the most serious outbreaks of grasshoppers in a decade has added to the troubles of the western farmer.

A large increase in infestation as the result of last year's drought has been noted throughout the country, but the chief damage has been done in South Dakota, Nebraska, eastern Colorado, Idaho, and western Kansas.

With an area of 11,000 square miles invaded in South Dakota, appeals have been made to the agriculture department for funds with which to combat the insect.

Cutworms also have been unusually prevalent this year throughout the middle west. Two serious outbreaks of army worms have occurred in Indiana, and Kentucky.

Hickory and ash wood from the United States is used in nearly every country for tool handles, in sporting goods or in the manufacture of automobile parts.

Volume of Trading On Curb Advances, Prices End Higher

New York, July 21. (AP)—The curb market made further upward progress today, to the accompaniment of a moderate acceleration of trading.

Oils again reflected fresh bullish sponsorship. The new Socony-Vacuum shares rose 1 point to a new high since their recent admission to trading. Gulf advanced 2½, and Indiana and Cities Service were firm.

There was considerable activity in a few of the low-priced specialties, with Phillip Morris rising ½ point to a new 1931 peak at 2¾. Copeland Products, a lightly traded issue, appeared at 18, a new high for the year, and a net gain of 4¼ points.

In the mining issues, Newmont gained nearly 3 points, while Quincy Mining, an infrequently traded issue, sold off nearly 2 to a new low. A soft spot among the industrials and specialties was Aluminum Co., which slid back nearly 2 points.

Walker Opposes Sharkey in New York Tonight

EXPERTS PICK SAILOR TO WIN

Boston Gob Will Carry 30 Pounds Weight Advantage

BY EDWARD J. NEIL

New York, July 21 (AP)—Eight years of gloved warfare, success, failures and disappointments, converge tomorrow night for Jack Sharkey in the same ring in Ebbets field where he jumped into fame in 1926.

Jack Sharkey

And if by any chance the bellicose sailorman from Boston should fail to stop Mickey Walker, the overstuffed middleweight who aspires to be a giant killer, he will be right back where he was before he conquered Harry Wills, the old black menace, five years ago.

The main difference, of course, is that Sharkey, before he humbled the negro Jack Dempsey was supposed to have feared, was a rough and tumble youngster, fresh from the navy, his whole career ahead of him. Tomorrow night he faces Walker at the cross-roads, his conquests of Wills, Maloney, McTigue, Godfrey, Stribling, Loughran, behind him. Defeat will ruin any chance he has of another opportunity to win the heavyweight championship from Max Schmeling, the man he fouled into the title last year.

Walker

The fight experts, however, after peering at the two warriors in training for several weeks, can see little reason why Walker should win the fifteen round duel for the benefit of the New York Milk Fund.

Sharkey will have about 30 pounds advantage. He is a head taller, has a longer reach, and more strength, skill and socking power. Mickey hits hard with a left hook to the body—for a middleweight. He still has remarkable powers of endurance despite a dozen years of lusty warfare. What betting there is favors Sharkey at 2½ and 3 to 1. The match will not be broadcast.

The advance sale was around the $100,000 mark and last day's rush for cheaper seats tomorrow may shove the receipts up above the $200,000 mark. The attendance may reach 25,000.

Both See Victory

Both Sharkey and Walker exercised lightly and rested today in their training camps, Mickey at Orangeburg, N. Y., Sharkey across the river in New Jersey. They are due in New York tomorrow afternoon for weighing in.

Inter-camp bickerings, the discovery of a Sharkey "spy" in the Walker stronghold yesterday, and a mutual exchange of predictions from the managers that the other fellow intended to "foul out," have kept the ballyhoo steaming for the past few days. There can be no foul tomorrow night however as the boxing commission ruled some time ago that bouts no longer can be terminated by low punches.

Ten heavyweights have been paired in a series of five round preliminaries on the supporting card.

POSTPONE MATCHES

New York July 21 (AP)—The annual East West tennis matches, which were to have been held at Forest Hills Friday and Saturday have been postponed a month, the Eastern Lawn Tennis Association announced today. It is planned to hold the matches August 31 and September 1.

Then there was the Chicago race starter who, on firing the starting pistol, assassinated the sprinters in a lapse of memory.

Here's How They Will Measure Up In Ring Tonight

New York, July 21. (AP)—Jack Sharkey, the heavyweight, and Mickey Walker, the upholstered middleweight, shape up as follows for their fifteen round match in Ebbets field tomorrow night:

Sharkey		Walker
6 ft.	Height	5 ft. 6 in.

BENGALS RALLY TO NIP SOLONS

Detroit Ends Its Losing Streak at Seven Games By 4 to 3 Victory

Washington, July 21 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers rallied in the ninth inning today to win, 4 to 3, ending their own losing streak at seven games and culminating the Senators' string of five consecutive victories.

Vic Sorrell went the route for the Tigers, holding the Nationals to seven hits. Hadley was the victim of the Bengals' winning rally, having supplanted Fischer in the seventh after the Tigers had started the attack which tallied the tying run.

Three in Third

The Senators scored three runs in the third on Hargrave's single, West's scratch double, Doljack's error, which let in two runs, and Cronin's single. McManus' double an Koenig's single scored the first Tiger run. They added another in he sixth when Walker was hit by a pitched ball, advanced on Koenig's out and scored on Hayworth's single.

Stone singled to inagurate the tying rally in the seventh. After Hadley had replaced Fischer, Stone stole second, but it was wasted effort for McManus walked. Walker was hit by a pitched ball for the second time in the game, filling the bases. Owen singled Stone home.

Koenig's single and Hayworth's triple put over the winning run in the ninth.

Aqua-Diamondball To Be Introduced To Fans Thursday

And now it's diamond ball in the water. The diamond ball players in this vicinity have been told by the umpires to "go take a jump in the lake" so much this season that they're taking it to heart.

Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock the Rouman's of Gladstone and the Bakers of Escanaba will meet in a diamond ball game in which Bay de Noc will be the playing field. The game which will be played in the water north of Terrace Gardens between Escanaba and Gladstone is a new inrovation for sports fans in this locality.

The players will play in water up to their knees, a regular diamond ball covered with a specially constructed rubber covering will be used and the bases will float on top of the water.

Eli Lavergne of the Bakers is the promoter of the new pastime in this locality. He claims his team "looks great" in the water. The Rouman's are one of the heaviest swatting teams in the Gladstone league. LaFleur and Gunkel are scheduled to handle the pitching burden for the Escanabans while Ducheney will spin the curves for the Rouman's.

FIGHT POSTPONED

Jersey City, N. J., July 21 (AP)—The ten round fight between Jackie (Kid) Berg and Teddy Watson scheduled for tonight at the Jersey City baseball park, was postponed until Friday because of rain.

Umpires Fare Better in Squabbles Than Do Players, Giants Find

St. Louis, July 21 (AP)—Treated roughly by both the Cardinals and the umpires during their four-day stay here, the New York Giants left tonight for Cincinnati where tomorrow their fiery leader, John J. McGraw, returns to the baseball wars after a three-day suspension.

The Giants, defeated in three games out of four by the Cardinals, fared even worse in their arguments with the umpires, not winning a single one of importance.

The umpires also suffered one casualty during the series, Bob Clarke, who banished McGraw Saturday for what President John A. Heydler, of the National League, called "abusive language." Clarke was suffering from tonsilitis today and was unable to work in the series final but Umpire Rigler continued where Clarke left off and banished Fred Fitzsimmons and Coach Dave Bancroft, of the Giants, who was acting manager during McGraw's absence.

McGraw Suspended

Bancroft was ordered from the field in the fourth inning, when he protested a base on balls Fitzsimmons issued to Frisch, the hurler going to the club house while Bancroft continued the argument.

The Giant-Cardinal series was featured by a bitter verbal exchange Sunday between McGraw and Heydler. McGraw, notified in the morning of his suspension, learned Heydler was in St. Louis and waited for him at Sportsman's park, berating him for "protecting incompetent umpires." Witnesses said the argument was not entirely one-sided, although McGraw generally was credited with the unofficial decision. Heydler said later McGraw was not entitled to privileges with umpires "just because he is vice president as well as manager of the New York club.

Umpire Clarke also banished Coach George Burns Saturday but Burns was not suspended.

His team defeated in all three games during his absence, McGraw tonight was anxious to return to active leadership—and more arguments with umpires, if, in his opinion, they are wrong.

AT THIS EARLY STAGE OF THE DOWNSWING, MACSMITH HAS ALREADY DROPPED THE LEFT HEEL.

How soon in the downswing should the left foot be replaced to its original position?

I have seen players start the downswing with the left heel still off the ground and the body turned away from the objective. If one swings in this manner, the arms cannot swing freely and the hitting power is blocked by the left side.

The backswing is made by turning the body away from the ball and raising the arms and hands. It naturally follows that the reverse of this is the downswing.

Turn the body back to the ball. This is easily accomplished if the left heel is replaced first. Replacing the heel with the natural turn of the body toward the ball will enable the left side to turn out of the way and the hitting will be done freely.

Cleveland Drops Third to Boston

Boston, July 21 (AP)—The Red Sox made it three out of four from Cleveland by taking the final game of the series today, 3 to 2, in 10 innings. It was the second extra inning game of the series and the second time Wilcy Moore scored a win over the Indians by fine relief pitching.

Wes Ferrell, Indian hurler, allowed the Sox 13 hits. He weakened in the tenth and passed two men. Miller's rap through Hodapp brought in the winning run.

HELEN REACHES QUARTER FINAL

Mrs. Moody Appears to Be Certain Winner of Women's Meet

BY BILL KING

Manchester, Mass., July 21 (AP)—Seven of the nation's first ten women tennis players and the unranked Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, who, in other years, topped them all, today gained the quarter finals in the Essex County Club's brilliant tourney.

Rankings, however, will mean but little during the remaining brackets for none of the seven appears to have any chance of halting the former Helen Wills' sweep to her fourth victory in this annual competition.

Beats Two Rivals

To gain the third last round, Mrs. Moody had to overcome two sturdy and hard driving rivals, but at no time in either match did her competition approach the pressing stage. Starting a bracket behind most of the survivors of the first day's play, she engaged Mrs. Ary Lamme, New York, for a 6-1, 6-3 victory. She caught up with the fourth round winners by overcoming Charlotte Miller, New York, 6-2, 6-2. These wins moved her into position for an encounter with Virginia Hilleary, Philadelphia, ranked fourth, with a semi-final bracket going to the winner.

Marjorie Morrill of Dedham, last year's winner, shared the day's honors with Mrs. Moody by outwearing Dorothy Andrus, last week's winner at Longwood, in a 6-3, 13-11 match that lasted almost 90 minutes. During the marathon set Miss Andrus reached set point seven times, only to be caught by her rival.

Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper of Santa Barbara, Calif., entered the third last bracket with a 6-3, 6-2 win over Mrs. J. Dallas Corbiere of Southboro. Mary Greef, Kansas City, qualified for a meeting tomorrow with Mrs. Harper, by disposing of Cecelia Riegel, Philadelphia, in 6-3, 6-4 fashion.

Sarah Palfrey, only one of four Brookline sisters to survive the two days' singles racqueteering shared the same quarter finals bracket with Miss Morrill, by advancing over Mrs. John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, 6-2, 8-10, 8-6.

Berry Pickers Are Finding Good Crop And Heavy Market

Newberry, July 21 (Special)—The huckle berry army is beginning to collect on the plains of this locality, gathering the fruit for local and private markets. The crop is a good one, the extreme heat and plentiful rainfall making the berries large and sweet.

Hundreds of people pick daily on the Dollarville marsh, their cars parked along M-28 below the Watson hill. On the plains in the northern part of the county several large camps are located, the largest being at Uhl's old lumber camp. Here are all sorts of shelters, tents, tar-paper shacks, brush lean-tos, and the old log buildings with brush or canvas roofs. The buyers go directly to the camps and truck the berries out to town. The price is low because of the good crop.

Many of the pickers bring their crates directly to town and thus escape the middle-man. Others believe the time lost coming and going out into the picking hours too much and prefer to take the smaller price and sell in the patch.

At the Uhl camp a small store is being installed where staple groceries, tobacco and other supplies can be purchased.

Some of the best of the crop appears to be missed by the pickers. The shore plains between Deer Park and Grand Marais have a splendid crop of great blue fruit and not a single picker was to be found there on Monday.

SPECIAL WARDEN

R. J. Anderson has been made special warden to have charge of the berry camps in this district, and was on Monday shown over his territory by Warden Richard Beach. He will be stationed on the plains as long as the crop is being gathered.

Fires set accidently by berry pickers are rather common. Anderson was introduced to the pickers, his duties explained, and the cooperation of the campers asked in behalf of the conservation department.

Warden Matt Nyman of Grand Marais reported two small fires set by berry pickers on Monday. Quick runs from his headquarters quickly subdued the flames before they did any damage.

NEWBERRY BRIEFS

A daughter, Marie Almeta, was born on July 20 to Mr. and Mrs. John Marks at their home in Lakefield township.

Mr. and Mrs. John Martin of Ishpeming are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Campbell.

The ladies of the country club are holding a pot-luck supper at the club house this evening, for members and guests.

Kenneth Voght of Escanaba was a caller in town on Monday.

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist Episcopal church hold their annual picnic at the Luce county park on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Delbridge of Ishpeming, who have been visiting in Detroit, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Campbell for a few days before returning to their home.

The Bethel Ladies aid holds the annual basket picnic in the village park on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Peggy Hauber of Washington, D. C., private secretary of Congressman Frank P. Bohn is spending a month here as guest of the Bohns. The congressman with family and Miss Hauber leave on Tuesday for a motor trip to Escanaba, Menominee and other points in the western end of the peninsula, returning on Friday.

The electrical storm of a week ago put the fire tower telephones out of commission, only one of them escaping. Poles on the east and west tower lines in Luce county were split and in one place the wire was burned through. Tower men Sampsel and Barkler are busy replacing the poles and restringing wire, but have the lines in working order.

Corps Signed Up For K. of C. Picnic

TEMPERS ACTUALLY HOT

Hartford, Conn.—Those persons with "hot" tempers actually create heat by their rising emotions, Dr. H. E. Himwich and J. F. Fulton, of Yale, contend. In experiments with cats and dogs they found that rage and fear burned up fuel in the form of fat in the animals, actually creating a "hot" temper.

Town Won't Help Soviet.

Rochdale, England, and the British government have clashed over assistance to Soviet Russia. The British Patents Office recently instructed the Rochdale Libraries Committee to send a set of patent specifications to the Soviet government, and the committee flatly refused. Rochdale backed up the committee, and now is debating whether to comply with the Patent Office's request to send the specifications to it direct.
